Development Plan for City Under Council Study Again

Another effort to establish a comprehensive development plan for Circleville appears in the making.

Providing professional information at last night's City Council session was Robert Burgin, a representative of Candeb, Fleissig & Associates, community planning and urban renewal consultants. He appeared before the solons several times last year to outline a similar program.

Last year's effort to initiate a planning program for the city achieved limited progress. But the project bogged down when Council tabled an ordinance that would have authorized actual preparation of a development plan. The matter remained relatively dormant until last night.

Lack of money to finance the city's share of a master plan program was considered a prime factor in the lawmakers' "no action" stand. Enforcement of regulations that a comprehensive plan would bring also fostered extensive debate.

BURGIN'S firm has offered to prepare a comprehensive plan for Circleville at a cost of about $28,500. Providing federal aid could be obtained, the city's actual share would be in the vicinity of $9,800.

Burgin pointed out last night that it would be possible for the city to undertake the program on a two-year basis in order to lessen the yearly appropriation. Members of Council have indicated there is a chance the money could be made available, at least in part, in the coming year appropriation.

The planning firm representative noted that some changes have taken place since last year, including increased federal assistance in some fields of urban renewal. He explained that personnel from his company would expect to be here for about a year to conduct studies necessary in formulating a comprehensive plan.

According to usual procedure, the local Planning Commission would submit an application to the State Development Department and Council would certify that the city's share of money is available.

A joint meeting between councilmen and Planning Commission members will be scheduled in the near future. Burgin said he would be happy to take part in the session.

In other business, the solons heard a petition complaint, signed by 10 residents, concerning property on E. Mill St. Ronald Culp was listed as the owner.

THE PETITION requested Council to take action to assure a cleanup of the area. The matter was referred to the Service Committee.

Venezuela To Sell Some Enterprises

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — "For sale: unprofitable sugar mills, railroads and hotel chain. For information contact Finance Ministry."

The Venezuelan government is not advertising quite this way, but wants to get rid of several state-owned enterprises. A spokesman says they have become a bureaucratic burden the government cannot afford to carry.

On the possible market list are six sugar mills owned by the Venezuelan Development Corp., the hotel chain Conahotu, the Railroad Institute, and bus lines.

What the government aims to do, in the case of the sugar mills for instance, is to seek a formula to turn them over to selected groups that will run them for the workers or in joint operation with the growers.

Eloy Anzola Montauban, the corporation president, has suggested that its enterprises could be turned into cooperatives of their stock offered for public sale.

The Conahotu runs 10 hotels and, despite promotional efforts, continues to lose money.

Farm Science Review To Open Sept. 29

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 100 different farm machines will be demonstrated in use during the big Ohio State Farm Science Review here Sept. 29-Oct. 1.

A total of 161 exhibitors are planning to participate in the review of a "tent city" over Ohio State University's Don Scott Field. The review grounds include 450 acres of farm land adjacent to the field.

New Immigration Quota Law Nears OK in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders expected passage today of a bill to scrap immigration quotas based on national origins and to put a ceiling on immigration from the Western Hemisphere.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., floor manager of the bill said the only amendment he expects to be brought up is one designed to bar the deportation of Dominican Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin.

Wessin has protested that U.S. Army personnel forced him to leave the Dominican Republic after rebel forces refused to surrender their weapons to a new provisional government unless he was removed.

He was taken to Miami, Fla., ostensibly to become the Dominican consul there, but he rejected the post after his arrival. The U.S. Immigration service is now studying his status.

The amendment, proposed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., is phrased in general terms. It would provide that "no person involuntarily brought physically into the United States by the United States government or its agents shall subsequently be deported from the United States under any circumstances."

Kennedy predicted defeat of the amendment.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, after a discussion of Thurmond's proposal by the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said there is fear that Wessin might be assassinated if he is sent back to the Dominican Republic.

But he said the amendment might cause difficulty in the future. For example, he said, it might prevent deportation of someone who committed a felony.

The key feature of the immigration bill, one of the administration's top priority measures, is the elimination over the next

Bob Hope Quips At Ike College

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower turned the first spadeful of earth in starting construction of a college named for him, then heard comedian Bob Hope quip:

"Where else but in America could a man in command of our armies, leader of our country and a leader in the field of education wind up in Seneca Falls shoveling dirt?"

Hope's remarks, and Eisenhower's smiling reaction, came at groundbreaking ceremonies Tuesday for Eisenhower College, a liberal arts school scheduled to open in 1967. A crowd of about 12,000 attended.

The institution will have about 1,500 students and will be on a 265-acre tract on the shore of Cayuga Lake.

Los Angeles Quad Dies Early Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the Pigge quadruplets, all in critical condition since they were born Sunday, died at 1:20 a.m. today.

Spokesmen at General Hospital said the cause of death was not known.

The child, named Winston Lydel, was the second of the four to be born, and the heaviest. All four weighed slightly less than nine pounds at birth.

The mother, Mrs. Alice Pigge, 28, told newsmen she had taken a drug prior to the children's conception. The drug, often used as a fertility stimulant, was used in Mrs. Pigge's case to correct a female condition.

1,979 Medics To Face Draft in January

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department moved today to draft 1,979 doctors, dentists and veterinarians because of the armed forces buildup.

The Pentagon asked the selective service to call 1,529 doctors, 350 dentists and 100 veterinarians for service in the Army, Navy and Air Force starting in January.

Pakistan, India OK Cease-Fire

Red Chinese Mystify India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, weeping as he spoke, announced today he has ordered a cease-fire in the war against Pakistan. He said the two Asian neighbors must live in neighborly peace.

Shastri told Parliament, however, that Communist China presents an "even greater challenge" to India's independence and that the nation must firmly resolve to meet the Red threat.

"We do not know what the Chinese will do next," Shastri said.

Earlier, India described as false an announcement from Peking that it has torn down military outposts on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier as demanded by Red China.

"We have not crossed into Tibet and we have not torn down anything," an official spokesman said.

The conflicting statements from New Delhi and Peking on the disputed Himalayan border posts apparently left that explosive issue up in the air.

China had charged India established 56 posts on the border of Sikkim, an Indian protectorate, or in neighboring Communist-ruled Tibet and that they must be dismantled by 1:30 p.m. (EST) or New Delhi would face "grave consequences."

Peking radio then announced early today that Indian troops had destroyed their installations in what was termed Tibetan territory and had then withdrawn.

"If any installation has been demolished on the Chinese side of the border," the Indian spokesman said, "the demolition must obviously have been done by the Chinese themselves."

$46 Billion Defense Bill Handed LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has cleared for President Johnson's signature a $46.8-billion defense money bill that includes $1.7 billion for a Viet Nam war buildup.

The measure goes to the President carrying also a provision that frustrates Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's desire to merge the Army Reserve and the National Guard.

To merger can be ordered by the Pentagon within a year without Congress' express approval, under terms of the bill passed Tuesday by the Senate and last Friday by the House.

The bill also forbids the Army to use any of the money for educating draftees who fail mental or other aptitude tests.

The defense appropriation is the largest money bill of the year. The special $1.7-billion appropriation included in it is to build up the armed forces in accord with increased requirements of the war in Viet Nam.

The Senate also forwarded to the President a $1.76-billion appropriations bill for the construction of military bases and military housing.

Indian troops have not crossed the border."

An announcement by the Indian government radio indicated that India-Pakistan fighting was still in progress this morning.

The Indian government radio said 30 inmates of a prison hospital in Jodhpur, air base city in southwest India, were killed by Pakistani bombs.

The broadcast said Pakistani planes staged two raids Tuesday night and two more early today.

Official sources in Rawalpindi said Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan has expressed "earnest regret" and promised full reimbursement for the burning of the American library in Karachi and the damaging of the U.S. Embassy by rioters Tuesday.

Exile Claims Chinese Reds Mass in Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has published a Cuban exile's claim that Chinese Communists are using Cuba as a springboard for Latin American infiltration.

The claim was made to the subcommittee Aug. 4 by Enrique Chau, a Cuban whose father was Chinese, and released Tuesday. Chau is a waiter in a restaurant in Miami.

Some 10,000 Chinese Communists entered Cuba in the last five years, he said, and "in Cuba you have masters to falsify documents and passports for these people to emigrate illegally."

With the establishment of diplomatic relations between Communist China and Cuba in 1959, Chau said, "the door was opened wide for Cuba to be the base of operations for the Red Chinese Communists that fanned all over Latin America."

Chau said he got his information "from members of the Chinese colony who have emigrated from Cuba to Miami."

Kashmir Dispute Still Unsettled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Pakistan and India agreed early today to end their undeclared war, but Pakistan threatened to withdraw from the United Nations if it does not find a fair and honorable settlement of the Kashmir dispute.

Pakistan's acceptance of the Security Council's cease-fire order came at a dramatic pre-dawn meeting of the council almost precisely at 3 a.m., the deadline set by the 11-nation body 48 hours earlier.

India previously had notified the United Nations it would stop shooting if Pakistan would do so. In view of Pakistan's late acceptance, India requested an extension of the deadline to permit orders to go out to the field commanders.

The council agreed to move the cease-fire hour forward to 4 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time today, a 15-hour delay.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, council president, hailed the agreement as a great day for the United Nations.

"This is an important day in U. N. history," he said, "and the history of the world. The council has addressed itself to perhaps the gravest problem in U. N. history."

The break came after Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto received last-minute instructions from President Mohammed Ayub Khan. The meeting of the council was delayed until the early morning hours, first while awaiting Bhutto's arrival from Pakistan and then while private talks finally produced the agreement.

In a personal message, read by Bhutto, Ayub Khan told the (Continued on Page Two)

Trio Executed For Aiding Reds

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — High-ranking Vietnamese military officers said a government firing squad executed three Vietnamese accused of being Viet Cong sympathizers tonight. The officers said the three were shot by a firing squad at a soccer stadium.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the execution was originally postponed because news photographers refused to obey orders not to take pictures until after the last shot is fired.

A Vietnamese officer, Lt. Col. Tran Huu Tu, said the headlights of three jeeps illuminated the stadium for the unusual nighttime execution.

Weathermen Keep Eye On Hurricane Carol

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Carol, thrashing around in midocean, is expected to turn toward the northwest or west today. Forecasters say there is no reason for any part of the United States to be jittery.

"It will make several wobbles before we can tell for sure what it's going to do," said forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Miami Weather Bureau. "It's just too far out to make a valuable prediction at this time."

Noted Prisoner Escapes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — One of the most wanted men in the Western Hemisphere, arrested with the help of the Early Bird satellite four months ago, has escaped from jail by the ancient method of a rope down a wall.

Georges LeMay, a dapper Canadian wanted in the spectacular burglary of a Montreal bank, made a clean getaway Tuesday night from the seventh floor of the modern County Jail.

He shattered the panes of an unbarred window, slid 90 feet down a cleaning hose anchored to plumbing, and screeched away with three men in a 1965 white sedan.

Police said they were investigating the possibility that LeMay had some inside help getting from his fifth floor cell to the unoccupied seventh floor.

LeMay, considered one of the smoothest operators in modern annals, has not hurt for money. He paid his debts at a Fort Lauderdale marina where he was arrested May 6 from a fist sized roll of $100 bills.

Police and the FBI spread a dragnet for LeMay, 39, but if they had any leads, they weren't talking about them. LeMay, a seasoned yachtsman, could put out to sea from any of hundreds of secluded coves along the Florida coast.

LeMay is charged with leading a crew that tunneled under the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961 and blasted open 377 safety deposit boxes.

They escaped with between $500,000 and $4 million, but the exact amount was never established because of the reluctance of the box owners to talk.

The stocky, 5-foot-8 college graduate has been Canada's most wanted person since then. He was hunted all over the world for four years but was not discovered until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police flashed his picture on the first Early Bird satellite television program.

Viet Cong Open Fresh Attack

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas launched wide-ranging attacks in the Mekong delta south of Saigon today while U.S. forces exchanged shots with Communist units in the central highlands.

Dope Ring Chief Faces Long Term

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Lucien Rivard, who managed a smile even though a jury had just found him guilty of directing an international narcotics smuggling ring, faced a maximum of 40 years in prison today.

The 50-year-old French-Canadian, whose case caused political turmoil in Canada, was convicted Tuesday of two counts of federal narcotics law violations — of conspiring to smuggle heroin into the United States and of actually causing heroin to be smuggled.

Each count carries a maximum of 20 years in prison. U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally said, however, sentencing would be delayed for 30 to 40 days until he had time to study the case.

Three other Montreal, Canada, men, Julien Gagnon, 36, Charles Emile Groleau, 56, and Joseph Raymond Jones, 28, also drew guilty verdicts on the conspiracy charge as Rivard's associates.

The verdict, reached by an all-male jury in about three hours at the end of the seventh day of the trial, culminated years of investigation by U.S. and Canadian authorities.

Testimony revealed that Rivard masterminded the ring that got its heroin from Europe and Mexico and distributed it to contact men in the northeastern United States.

Snafu Tangles Robbery

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The robbery went off without a hitch — well, almost.

Two gun-waving bandits stepped coolly into a downtown jewelry store Tuesday afternoon and held the co-owner, Harry Kagan, at gunpoint while they scooped up cash and gems valued at more than $5,000.

Then they ran outside to their waiting getaway car, an old convertible. It wouldn't start.

As the bandits desperately tried to start the motor, things began to happen. Kagan called police. In a camera store two doors away, Donald L. Adams, a shipping clerk and amateur photographer, saw the men with guns get into the car and rushed out, camera in hand. "The back window of the convertible was out, so I stuck the camera inside and snapped some pictures," he said.

The bandits then commandeered another car. The driver, Ruth Schrumph, tried to get out with her poodle, Lucky. Her husband, Al Schrumph appeared on the scene and rescued both wife and dog.

The bandits roared off in the Schrumph car — for about 100 feet. Then it stalled.

They leaped out and separated. One of them tried to commandeer another auto, but the driver — another woman — roared off, leaving him standing at the curb, gun in hand.

He was still standing there when policeman Robert Frederickson came up on his motorcycle. The bandit pointed the gun at Frederickson, and ordered him off the cycle.

The officer got off all right, but grabbed the gunman and wrestled him to the ground.

He was identified later as Walter E. Bigelow, 31, who was recently paroled from San Quentin where he had been serving a sentence for robbery.

At police headquarters, Bigelow was asked about the trouble with the getaway cars.

His answer: "I've been in The Joint so long, I forgot how to drive."

The second bandit? Oh yes . . . he got away with the loot.

Viet Cong Open Fresh Attack

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas launched wide-ranging attacks in the Mekong delta south of Saigon today while U.S. forces exchanged shots with Communist units in the central highlands.

The Viet Cong lobbed mortar shells at two towns in Dinh Tuong Province 50 miles southwest of Saigon, killing or wounding 26 civilians, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Communists overran an outpost in the same province and inflicted heavy losses on the defenders. They attacked another, causing light casualties. Government troops later retook both posts.

In the highlands, elements of the 1st Cavalry Division exchanged fire for 10 minutes with a Viet Cong unit probing the defense perimeter of the "Flying Horsemen" at An Khe, 260 miles north of Saigon.

The Army's 101st Airborne Brigade in the same area also reported sporadic fire with the enemy, but no casualties were reported.

Twenty-one U.S. soldiers were killed in action, 106 were wounded and 2 were listed as missing or captured in the week ending Sept. 18, the spokesman said. The casualties reflected the bitter battle fought last weekend at An Khe by the 101st Airborne.

The communists suffered 495 killed and 196 captured. Viet Cong wounded are not recorded, as the guerrillas carry their wounded away.

U.S. pilots striking targets in North Viet Nam reported heavy ground fire, but all planes were reported to have returned safely. Sixteen Navy planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Midway reported they destroyed two boats and heavily damaged several bridges.

U.S. B52 jet bombers staged their 30th strike of the war today, pounding suspected Red targets in Binh Duong Province, a spokesman said.

Housewife Delivers Litter to Council

GREENWOOD, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. G. L. Marshall Jr., a housewife, told City Council members she wanted to show them something.

Then, on the floor of the council chamber Tuesday, she emptied a sackful of litter—paper, trash, bottles, beer cans, broken glass.

This, she said, was litter, strewn on the streets of Greenwood. She demanded stiffer fines for litter bugs and said the money could be used to purchase litter baskets.

Council agreed to think it over. Mrs. Marshall left the chamber, leaving the litter on the floor.

New Immigration Quota Law Nears OK in Senate

The key feature of the immigration bill, one of the administration's top priority measures, is the elimination over the next three years of the national origins quota system.

Adopted in 1924, it assigns quotas to nations outside the Western Hemisphere to reflect the ethnic balance of the U.S. population in 1920. No numerical limit is placed on immigration from nations in this hemisphere under present law.

The Senate Judiciary Committee voted to set an annual ceiling of 120,000 on immigration from Canada, Mexico and other Western Hemisphere nations beginning July 1, 1968.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, weeping as he spoke, announced today he has ordered a cease-fire in the war against Pakistan. He said the two Asian neighbors must live in neighborly peace.

Shastri told Parliament, however, that Communist China presents an "even greater challenge" to India's independence and that the nation must firmly resolve to meet the Red threat.

"We do not know what the Chinese will do next," Shastri said.

Earlier, India described as false an announcement from Peking that it has torn down military outposts on the Sikkim-Tibet frontier as demanded by Red China.

"We have not crossed into Tibet and we have not torn down anything," an official spokesman said.

The conflicting statements from New Delhi and Peking on the disputed Himalayan border posts apparently left that explosive issue up in the air.

China had charged India established 56 posts on the border of Sikkim, an Indian protectorate, or in neighboring Communist-ruled Tibet and that they must be dismantled by 1:30 p. m. (EST) or New Delhi would face "grave consequences."

Peking radio then announced early today that Indian troops had destroyed their installations in what was termed Tibetan territory and had then withdrawn.

"If any installation has been demolished on the Chinese side of the border," the Indian spokesman said, "the demolition must obviously have been done by the Chinese themselves."

$46 Billion Defense Bill Handed LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has cleared for President Johnson's signature a $46.88-billion defense money bill that includes $1.7 billion for a Viet Nam war build-up.

The measure goes to the President carrying also a provision that frustrates Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's desire to merge the Army Reserve and the National Guard.

To merger can be ordered by the Pentagon within a year without Congress' express approval, under terms of the bill passed Tuesday by the Senate and last Friday by the House.

The bill also forbids the Army to use any of the money for educating draftees who fail mental or other aptitude tests.

The defense appropriation is the largest money bill of the year. The special $1.7-billion appropriation included in it is to build up the armed forces in accord with increased requirements of the war in Viet Nam.

The Senate also forwarded to the President a $1.76-billion appropriations bill for the construction of military bases and military housing.

Indian troops have not crossed the border.

An announcement by the Indian government radio indicated that India-Pakistan fighting was still in progress this morning.

The Indian government radio said 30 inmates of a prison hospital in Jodhpur, air base city in southwest India, were killed by Pakistani bombs.

The broadcast said Pakistani planes staged two raids Tuesday night and two more early today.

Official sources in Rawalpindi said Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan has expressed "earnest regret" and promised full reimbursement for the burning of the American library in Karachi and the damaging of the U.S. Embassy by rioters Tuesday.

Exile Claims Chinese Reds Mass in Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has published a Cuban exile's claim that Chinese Communists are using Cuba as a springboard for Latin American infiltration.

The claim was made to the subcommittee Aug. 4 by Enrique Chau, a Cuban whose father was Chinese, and released Tuesday. Chau is a waiter in a restaurant in Miami.

Some 10,000 Chinese Communists entered Cuba in the last five years, he said, and "in Cuba you have masters to falsify documents and passports for these people to emigrate illegally."

With the establishment of diplomatic relations between Communist China and Cuba in 1959, Chau said, "the door was opened wide for Cuba to be the base of operations for the Red Chinese Communists that fanned all over Latin America."

Chau said he got his information "from members of the Chinese colony who have emigrated from Cuba to Miami."

Kashmir Dispute Still Unsettled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Pakistan and India agreed early today to end their undeclared war, but Pakistan threatened to withdraw from the United Nations if it does not find a fair and honorable settlement of the Kashmir dispute.

Pakistan's acceptance of the Security Council's cease-fire order came at a dramatic pre-dawn meeting of the council almost precisely at 3 a. m., the deadline set by the 11-nation body 48 hours earlier.

India previously had notified the United Nations it would stop shooting if Pakistan would do so. In view of Pakistan's late acceptance, India requested an extension of the deadline to permit orders to go out to the field commanders.

The council agreed to move the cease-fire hour forward to 4 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time today, a 15-hour delay.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, council president, hailed the agreement as a great day for the United Nations.

"This is an important day in U. N. history," he said, "and the history of the world. The council has addressed itself to perhaps the gravest problem in U. N. history."

The break came after Pakistani Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto received last-minute instructions from President Mohammed Ayub Khan. The meeting of the council was delayed until the early morning hours, first while awaiting Bhutto's arrival from Pakistan and then while private talks finally produced the agreement.

In a personal message, read by Bhutto, Ayub Khan told the

Trio Executed For Aiding Reds

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP)—High-ranking Vietnamese military officers said a government firing squad executed three Vietnamese accused of being Viet Cong sympathizers tonight. The officers said the three were shot by a firing squad at a soccer stadium.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the execution was originally postponed because news photographers refused to obey orders not to take pictures until after the last shot is fired.

A Vietnamese officer, Lt. Col. Tran Huu Tu, said the headlights of three jeeps illuminated the stadium for the unusual nighttime execution.

Weathermen Keep Eye On Hurricane Carol

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Carol, thrashing around in midocean, is expected to turn toward the northwest or west today. Forecasters say there is no reason for any part of the United States to be jittery.

"It will make several wobbles before we can tell for sure what it's going to do," said forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Miami Weather Bureau. "It's just too far out to make a valuable prediction at this time."

Noted Prisoner Escapes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — One of the most wanted men in the Western Hemisphere, arrested with the help of the Early Bird satellite four months ago, has escaped from jail by the ancient method of a rope down a wall.

Georges LeMay, a dapper Canadian wanted in the spectacular burglary of a Montreal bank, made a clean getaway Tuesday night from the seventh floor of the modern County Jail.

He shattered the panes of an unbarred window, slid 90 feet down a cleaning hose anchored to plumbing, and screeched away with three men in a 1963 white sedan.

Police said they were investigating the possibility that LeMay had some inside help getting from his fifth floor cell to the unoccupied seventh floor.

LeMay, considered one of the smoothest operators in modern annals, has not hurt for money. He paid his debts at a Fort Lauderdale marina where he was arrested May 6 from a fist sized roll of $100 bills.

Police and the FBI spread a dragnet for LeMay, 39, but if they had any leads, they weren't talking about them. LeMay, a seasoned yachtsman, could put out to sea from any of hundreds of secluded coves along the Florida coast.

LeMay is charged with leading a crew that tunneled under the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1961 and blasted open 377 safety deposit boxes.

They escaped with between $500,000 and $4 million, but the exact amount was never established because of the reluctance of the box owners to talk.

The stocky, 5-foot-8 college graduate has been Canada's most wanted person since then. He was hunted all over the world for four years but was not discovered until the Royal Canadian Mounted Police flashed his picture on the first Early Bird satellite television program.

council its cease-fire resolution was unsatisfactory to Pakistan but that he was accepting it in the interest of international peace.

After announcing the decision, Bhutto declared that the council must now employ "all its force" and all its responsibility for a fair and honorable settlement of the Jammu and Kashmir dispute. "If the full morality and weight of the United Nations is not brought to the task," then Pakistan will have to leave the United Nations."

U.S. officials felt that, over all, the cease-fire came because both countries had come to recognize they faced a potentially long and devastating conflict which might lead to general war in Asia — depending on what Communist China did.

Chinese harassment of India with a war of nerves, which was intensified within the past week, was designed probably for the immediate purpose of assisting Pakistan by creating a diversion on India's China border.

If the Chinese had encountered weakness in India's resistance or in the readiness of the Western powers — perhaps even Russia — to support India, they might have pressed on into an active border campaign against India. Among Western diplomats, therefore, the belief is that stern warnings from the United States and Britain and Russia's continued supply of military assistance to India helped keep the Chinese threat limited.

The heart of the U.S. strategy was to establish and stick with a completely neutral position as between India and Pakistan. Another major element was to concentrate all U.S. diplomatic activity — or at least all that was conducted publicly — in the U.N. Security Council.

Stock Prices Nudge Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took off on another advance early this afternoon as the pace of trading quickened.

After a spell of profit taking and consolidation in the morning when volume was somewhat lighter than Tuesday, dealings became faster.

A number of stocks weathered profit taking and were taking up where they left off on their individual rallies.

Some, such as SCM Corp., which have had large percentage rises over several sessions, fell under heavy selling. The pattern improved considerably for a number of blue chips in various groups. Motors, chemicals, oils and metal showed selective strength.

Airlines embarked on another vigorous rally. Many stocks through the list showed small changes.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 341.5 from industrial up 1.0, rails unchanged and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.98 at 928.50.

Floods Hit 4 States; West Stung by Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rivers rolled over their banks in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma today, driving thousands of persons from their homes and damaging crops and property.

Snow and cold stung the West and a new storm headed into the area which was snowed under last week.

Floodwaters poured through Smithville in northwestern Missouri and for the second time in two months the 300 residents fled their homes. Classes were canceled in Smithville and the school buildings turned over to workers.

The Little Platte River was expected to crest 10 feet over its banks today.

Rivers were unable to handle the runoff from torrential rains in Missouri and Kansas. The Grand River was out of its banks along its entire length in northwestern Missouri.

Families were evacuated in Mosby and Tracy, Mo.

The Republican River was slightly above flood stage in Clay Center, Kan., and the Grand River rose more than 13 feet in Chillicothe, Mo.

Flooding also struck southwestern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska.

Twenty families were evacuated when the Stranger Creek overflowed in Leavenworth County, Kan. The Blue River was out of its banks in the Kansas City area and in East Independence, Mo.

The swollen waters from the Little Grand River and other tributaries caused the Missouri River to overflow in St. Joseph, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan.

Torrential rainstorms Tuesday swelled the damage.

High winds and tornadoes accompanied rainstorms in Iowa City and Sigourney, Iowa, damaging homes and farm buildings. A 3 1/2-inch downpour sent water rushing into 50 homes in Wyoming, Iowa.

Police and National Guardsmen helped remove 35 persons stranded in their homes in the Ottumwa, Iowa, area.

Another cold surge stung Wyoming, though officials didn't expect it to match last week's storm which brought two feet of snow. With the exception of Wyoming 130 over the snowy range west of Laramie, all major highways were open.

Heavy snow fell in north central Montana Tuesday night after a day of rain. U.S. 212 remains closed by snow.

direction of Health Commissioner John Himrod.

The enforcement provision of the regulations notes the health commissioner shall give written notice of alleged violations to persons concerned. This would allow reasonable time for corrective measures.

Penalties are governed by appropriate sections of the Ohio Revised Code.

It was also noted that the Board of Health may authorize variances, in specific cases, where application would cause unusual and unnecessary hardship. However, it was pointed out that no deviations shall be granted that would defeat the spirit and general intent of the regulations.

The minimum sanitation standards and other aspects are on file at the Health Department office.

3 Faiths Open Monastery

Catholics, Syrian, Protestant Merge

WIEN, Mo. (AP) — Four members of three Christian faiths have formed an ecumenical monastery in a north central Missouri hamlet to promote Christian unity through prayer.

Two Roman Catholics, an Episcopalian and a married Syrian Orthodox priest are the men of the new monastic order, the Brothers of Christian Unity. The order is open to Roman Catholics, Orthodox and Protestants.

"We live under modified Benedictine rules," said the Rev. Robert Bowman, the Episcopalian. "This essentially means we do not have corporal punishment. The life is one of poverty, chastity, obedience and prayer."

The Rev. Mr. Bowman will take his final vows as a member of the two-year-old order Thursday at Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis. The Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, Episcopal bishop of Missouri, will conduct the ceremony.

Other members of the order are the Rev. Joseph Starmann and former lay Brother Joseph Bona, both Roman Catholics, and the oblate, the Rev. Francis Forbes of the Syrian Orthodox Church.

An oblate cannot become a full member because he is married and the pledge of chastity prohibits him. Father Starmann and Brother Bona are full members.

The Rev. Mr. Forbes lives at the monastery with his wife and three children. He handles the group's publication and attempts to raise money.

Father Starmann started the order. The Rev. Mr. Bowman helped in its realization. The Most Rev. Joseph M. Marling, Roman Catholic bishop of Jefferson City, allowed the group to use an old Franciscan monastery at Wien, a farming town of 40 persons. The monastery was abandoned by the Franciscans in 1916.

council its cease-fire resolution was unsatisfactory to Pakistan but that he was accepting it in the interest of international peace.

After announcing the decision, Bhutto declared that the council must now employ "all its force" and all its responsibility for a fair and honorable settlement of the Jammu and Kashmir dispute. "If the full morality and weight of the United Nations is not brought to the task," then Pakistan will have to leave the United Nations.

U.S. officials felt that, over all, the cease-fire came because both countries had come to recognize they faced a potentially long and devastating conflict which might lead to general war in Asia — depending on what Communist China did.

Chinese harassment of India with a war of nerves, which was intensified within the past week, was designed probably for the immediate purpose of assisting Pakistan by creating a diversion on India's China border.

If the Chinese had encountered weakness in India's resistance or in the readiness of the Western powers — perhaps even Russia — to support India, they might have pressed on into an active border campaign against India. Among Western diplomats, therefore, the belief is that stern warnings from the United States and Britain and Russia's continued supply of military assistance to India helped keep the Chinese threat limited.

The heart of the U.S. strategy was to establish and stick with a completely neutral position as between India and Pakistan. Another major element was to concentrate all U.S. diplomatic activity — or at least all that was conducted publicly — in the U.N. Security Council.

Stock Prices Nudge Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took off on another advance early this afternoon as the pace of trading quickened.

After a spell of profit taking and consolidation in the morning when volume was somewhat lighter than Tuesday, dealings became faster.

A number of stocks weathered profit taking and were taking up where they left off on their individual rallies.

Some, such as SCM Corp., which have had large percentage rises over several sessions, fell under heavy selling.

The pattern improved considerably for a number of blue chips in various groups. Motors, chemicals, oils and metal showed selective strength.

Airlines embarked on another vigorous rally. Many stocks through the list showed small changes.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3.2 to 341.5 with industrials up 1.0, rails unchanged and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.98 at 928.50.

Billfold Is Stolen

Carolyn Lewis, 317 E. High St., told Circleville Police her billfold, containing a small amount of change, was taken from a car parked on East Main St.

Patrolmen Wesley Barton and Leonard Sines recovered the billfold a short time later on N. Court St. at Hargus Creek. The change was missing.

Floods Hit 4 States; West Stung by Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rivers rolled over their banks in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma today, driving thousands of persons from their homes and damaging crops and property.

Snow and cold stung the West and a new storm headed into the area which was snowed under last week.

Floodwaters poured through Smithville in northwestern Missouri and for the second time in two months the 300 residents fled their homes. Classes were canceled in Smithville and the school buildings turned over to workers.

The Little Platte River was expected to crest 10 feet over its banks today.

Rivers were unable to handle the runoff from torrential rains in Missouri and Kansas. The Grand River was out of its banks along its entire length in northwestern Missouri.

Families were evacuated in Mosby and Tracy, Mo.

The Republican River was slightly above flood stage in Clay Center, Kan., and the Grand River rose more than 13 feet in Chillicothe, Mo.

Flooding also struck southwestern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska.

Twenty families were evacuated when the Stranger Creek overflowed in Leavenworth County, Kan. The Blue River was out of its banks in the Kansas City area and in East Independence, Mo.

The swollen waters from the Little Grand River and other tributaries caused the Missouri River to overflow in St. Joseph, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan.

Torrential rainstorms Tuesday swelled the damage.

High winds and tornadoes accompanied rainstorms in Iowa City and Sigourney, Iowa, damaging homes and farm buildings. A 3 1/2-inch downpour sent water rushing into 50 homes in Wyoming, Iowa.

According to councilmen, the smoke stems from a smoke problem that exists in the south-end. Third Ward solon Robert Turner said he has received numerous complaints from residents of the area.

Also on the agenda was a request for the city to annex six acres of land located north of Route 22 and adjacent to the Stoutsville Pike. The area is owned by David Carruthers of Canal Winchester. He was represented at last night's meeting by Roy Huffer, local attorney.

Council took no formal action on the request. Huffer said the proposal would be pursued and more information provided to the solons.

Fourth Ward Councilman Boyd Horn again turned a critical eye toward the weed problem that exists in many sections of the city. He advocated immediate action against property owners allegedly in violation.

Solon David Crawford announced that local Boy Scout units are seeking service projects, such as painting traffic signs and the like. The program is under the direction of Robert Radcliff, a District Boy Scout official.

Steel Output Outlook

Fighting in Viet Nam and continuance of the automobile boom will blunt what otherwise might have become a serious slump in steel production, business forecasters say.

There was a big expansion of inven-

tories in recent months as a hedge against a prolonged strike in the steel industry, but continued upsurge in the economy and war and price uncertainties are expected to stall a precipitate reduction in steel inventories.

Teachers Plan Unique Protest

By Hal Boyle

By EDDY GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP) — More than 40,000 British teachers have decided to ban homework—home work for themselves, not their pupils.

Beginning Oct. 4, members of the National Association of Schoolmasters will confine their work to classroom hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They will correct no math papers in evening hours.

They will take no compositions home with them at night.

They will coach no athletic teams at 4 p.m.

The strike against homework will last two weeks.

Said Terence Casey, 45, secretary of the association:

"This is a protest against a suggestion by our employers that teaching is practically a part-time occupation.

"All our outside activities will cease at 4 o'clock, and work not completed during the day will be left undone."

The association represents about one in every seven of the country's teachers. The members are angry over a recent award which increased their pay by an average of $5.60 to $8.40 a week.

In making the award, there was a suggestion that the teaching profession allows a teacher to earn money in his or her spare time.

The association wants the government to set up a commission to examine what the teachers claim are many deficiencies in the country's educational structure.

The National Union of Teachers — the biggest teachers' union — said a commission had already examined the educational structure. It intimated it would not go along with the no-home work ban.

The spokesman for the National Association of Schoolmasters said:

"We want all the existing educational deficiencies, which have been concealed for too long, properly looked into even if it takes 10 years."

This association is made up solely of men teachers. More than half the members of the rival union of teachers are women.

The Ministry of Education said it was difficult to state an average teacher's pay because of the numerous classifications.

A spokesman said it might be about $2,520 a year.

Theme and Purpose

By John Chamberlain

I don't know whether the world can be saved by a traveling musical extravaganza put on by a couple of hundred college-age kids who, in the name of the Moral Re-Armament Movement, want to show up the beatniks and pragmatic Leftist revolutionists of their generation as a bunch of nihilists leading us all to slavery. But if the boys and girls who have been staging a show called "Sing-Out 1965" all across America, from Stamford, Conn., to the Los Angeles Hollywood Bowl, can't save the world by an exuberant song-and-dance celebration of such "square" items as patriotism, common decency and character, it won't be for lack of trying. "Sing-Out 1965" has had some tremendous audiences in America this summer.

The effect of the "Sing-Out" group may not be enough to counter-balance the thrust of "teach-ins," marches, caterwauling demonstrations, and "peaceful" incitements to violence that the new Left is reported to be scheduling for the university campuses this autumn. As a matter of fact, the Moral Re-Armament people will have taken their show from California to Japan, Korea and other distant foreign places by the time these words are in print. Which means that they won't be around for the crisis. But this could have its impact on the American campus scene by indirection. What happens abroad is often imitated here at home. The curious fact about the Moral Re-Armament Movement, which is so typically Western in its evangelical origins, is that it seems to be catching on with Asians who have big names in their own countries.

In India, the leader of the movement is Rajmohan Gandhi, the tall and eloquent grandson of the revered Mahatma Gandhi. And in Japan the chief sponsor of the autumn invasion by the "Sing-Out" kids from America is a young business executive named Masahide Shibusawa, who was the first Japanese citizen to be received by the Prime Minister of Korea after the signing of the peace treaty between Seoul and Tokyo.

Everybody knows about Mahatma Gandhi, which means that his grandson, Rajmohan Gandhi, the editor of the Indian weekly Himmat, needs no special introduction to Americans. The ancestral background of Masahide Shibusawa is not as famous as Rajmohan Gandhi's in an international sense, but it is extremely important to Japan, for Masahide's great-grandfather, the Viscount Shibusawa, was the man who built the first textile mill in Japan, thus committing his country to all the fateful consequences of the Industrial Revolution, Western-style.

The old Viscount was a man of force and ingenuity; when he couldn't persuade the daughters of feudal peasants to work in his mill, he went to the aristocracy. Well-born Japanese women, recruited in the name of patriotism, operated the first spinning and weaving equipment in the Shibusawa mills in the effort to make Japan competitive with the West.

The argument presented by Rajmohan Gandhi and Masahide Shibusawa, who toured the United States in July and August, is that Communism must be opposed by something more inspiring than mere anti-Communism. They are looking to the West for "positive" statements of "theme" and "purpose." Of his audience with the Prime Minister of Korea, Masahide Shibusawa says: "He wanted to have a demonstration in Korea this autumn where the youth of the world would come and give the youth this new theme and new conception of the modernization of man. Korea is now going into a new phase of her history and she needs a big idea now so that her whole people can move forward to plan her real role in world history. He asked me to help plan a conference in Seoul. Then I want to have an assembly in Tokyo."

As an American who resents the multiplication of governmental coersions in the world, I have never felt the need for a "positive" theme to make me anti-Communist. I do not say this boastfully; maybe I would be a better person and a more effective anti-Communist if I could join a "positive" movement. It could be that Masahide Shibusawa and Rajmohan Gandhi are right in saying that their countries will be lost to the West unless something more than anti-Communism is supplied to fill the vacuum of purposeless lives. In any event, if the "Sing-Out" students from America can help fill a vacuum in Asia, the impact, from a distance, on America itself could be tremendous.

What causes blood in the stool? Is it a dangerous symptom?

Blood in the stool means that a blood vessel has been broken somewhere in the intestinal tract. The broken blood vessel may be in the mouth, in the esophagus, in the stomach, in the large intestine, or in the rectum.

The presence of either fresh blood, which is bright red, or old blood, which is darker in color, must not be ignored, especially if the bleeding persists.

Black, tarry stools, when not caused by medication like iron, can readily be studied by a simple test for the presence of blood.

Blood in the stool is not always dangerous. Bleeding hemorrhoids, or piles, are probably the most frequent cause of bleeding. There are, of course, more serious reasons, leading from stomach ulcers, polyps, tumors of the intestines, and ulcerative colitis.

This bleeding is one of nature's warnings. When it is attended to early, the patient is given the greatest opportunity for an early recovery. With modern X-ray methods, the entire intestinal tract can be studied with accuracy to pinpoint the causes for bleeding, even in its deepest recesses.

Can the antibiotics prevent a cold if they are taken in the very earliest stage of an infection?

The virus that causes a common cold has probably been growing and incubating for 36 to 48 hours before symptoms appear.

When symptoms do appear, antibiotics cannot be considered a preventive; rather, a possible method of cure.

The actual effectiveness of the antibiotics in the treatment of the common cold is questionable.

Infections that are caused by viruses are not affected by the antibiotics because the viruses themselves are not killed. However, antibiotics do have a definite value when infections are caused by germs or bacteria, rather than viruses.

The streptococcus, the staphylococcus, the pneumococcus, and other germs respond remarkably to well-chosen antibiotics.

Sometimes antibiotics are given even for viral infections, in order to prevent the complication of an added bacterial infection.

The decision to use an antibiotic must depend on the physician's judgment. The promiscuous use of these drugs without direction can lead to trouble.

Antibiotics left over from a previous infection should not be taken because symptoms seem similar. The infection may be a totally different one, and require totally different treatment.

What is the proper way of suppressing a sneeze?

Laurel and Hardy always tried ingenious ways of suppressing a sneeze, especially if they wanted their presence to go undetected.

They squinted hard, they held their breath. But they sneezed. This is as it should be. For a sneeze is nature's protective way of explosively getting rid of an irritant in the nose.

A foreign substance, pollen, or an irritating odor can produce a sneeze.

A sneeze should never be suppressed by squeezing both nostrils together. Pressure built up in the nose can backfire through the Eustachian tubes and into the ears. Hemorrhages of the ear drum and temporary deafness can result from this unsafe method of suppression.

If, for social reasons, an impending sneeze must be stopped, firm pressure on the center of the upper lip may help to control the sneeze.

When the nose is covered with a handkerchief to prevent the spread of germs into the air, the sneeze is socially acceptable, gratifying, and purposeful.

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Next to higher food prices a hike in the price tag on new cars is most likely to spell a rising cost of living to most people.

A costlier car means more to many auto-conscious Americans than even dearer clothing or higher rents.

With all of these tending upward this year, it's a good thing that incomes also are expected to rise for a lot of people — but not all.

Food prices soared in the spring and early summer. And now the public is watching the debuts of the 1966 car models both for their new styling and their price tags.

Many would-be buyers have expected higher prices this fall ever since the wage increases in the auto industry.

But Chrysler, in announcing that most of its models this fall will cost more than last, says the increases don't reflect higher production costs. Mainly, says the auto maker, they result from inclusion in the standard price of a number of safety devices previously found in the list of extras which the buyer has become accustomed to take into account.

As the new models — and the new price lists — are unveiled, leaders in the auto industry are expressing conviction that the American public is still in a buying mood. They expect still another record sales year. General Motors predicts car sales will rise by another two million units in the new model year.

The car makers may feel that higher prices can be made to stick.

People will doubtless grumble about the rising cost of living. They are more or less used to its going up gradually month after month, and react — mostly conversationally rather than in purse string tightening — only when the spurt hits everyone at once, as in the case of rising food prices.

In a few days the government will issue another of its monthly reports on the cost of consumer prices. And most expect the index to rise again. Higher prices on new cars won't show up in the index until later and by then a bountiful harvest may have held food prices in check.

The prospects for larger incomes to meet either a sizable or a gradual rise in living costs spring from these factors:

Employment is at a record high with good chances of even more people finding jobs and this means a higher total of personal income. For individuals, there are higher wage scales in many labor contracts this year, with some providing further increases next year also.

Social Security payments have been increased, bringing a bit more each month to those over 65. Next July medicare will cut the health care bills for many people and thus substitute for a rise in spendable income.

Dividend payments have risen this year for many stockholders. Profits have increased for many who are self employed or run small business firms.

And the general expectation of a still more prosperous economy holds promise of still more jobs, still home take-home pay, still larger profits in the months ahead.

Steel Output Outlook

Fighting in Viet Nam and continuance of the automobile boom will blunt what otherwise might have become a serious slump in steel production, business forecasters say.

There was a big expansion of inven-

tories in recent months as a hedge against a prolonged strike in the steel industry, but continued upsurge in the economy and war and price uncertainties are expected to stall a precipitate reduction in steel inventories.

Teachers Plan Unique Protest

By Hal Boyle

By EDDY GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP) — More than 40,000 British teachers have decided to ban homework—home work for themselves, not their pupils.

Beginning Oct. 4, members of the National Association of Schoolmasters will confine their work to classroom hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They will correct no math papers in evening hours.

They will take no compositions home with them at night.

They will coach no athletic teams at 4 p.m.

The strike against homework will last two weeks.

Said Terence Casey, 45, secretary of the association:

"This is a protest against a suggestion by our employers that teaching is practically a part-time occupation.

"All our outside activities will cease at 4 o'clock, and work not completed during the day will be left undone."

The association represents about one in every seven of the country's teachers. The members are angry over a recent award which increased their pay by an average of $5.60 to $8.40 a week.

In making the award, there was a suggestion that the teaching profession allows a teacher to earn money in his or her spare time.

The association wants the government to set up a commission to examine what the teachers claim are many deficiencies in the country's educational structure.

The National Union of Teachers — the biggest teachers' union — said a commission had already examined the educational structure. It intimated it would not go along with the no-home work ban.

The spokesman for the National Association of Schoolmasters said:

"We want all the existing educational deficiencies, which have been concealed for too long, properly looked into even if it takes 10 years."

This association is made up solely of men teachers. More than half the members of the rival union of teachers are women.

The Ministry of Education said it was difficult to state an average teacher's pay because of the numerous classifications. A spokesman said it might be about $2,520 a year.

Theme and Purpose

By John Chamberlain

I don't know whether the world can be saved by a traveling musical extravaganza put on by a couple of hundred college-age kids who, in the name of the Moral Re-Armament Movement, want to show up the beatniks and pragmatic Leftist revolutionists of their generation as a bunch of nihilists leading us all to slavery. But if the boys and girls who have been staging a show called "Sing-Out 1965" all across America, from Stamford, Conn., to the Los Angeles Hollywood Bowl, can't save the world by an exuberant song-and-dance celebration of such "square" items as patriotism, common decency and character, it won't be for lack of trying. "Sing-Out 1965" has had some tremendous audiences in America this summer.

The effect of the "Sing-Out" group may not be enough to counter-balance the thrust of "teach - ins," marches, caterwauling demonstrations, and "peaceful" incitements to violence that the new Left is reported to be scheduling for the university campuses this autumn. As a matter of fact, the Moral Re-Armament people will have taken their show from California to Japan, Korea and other distant foreign places by the time these words are in print. Which means that they won't be around for the crisis. But this could have its impact on the American campus scene by indirection. What happens abroad is often imitated here at home. The curious fact about the Moral Re-Armament Movement, which is so typically Western in its evangelical origins, is that it seems to be catching on with Asians who have big names in their own countries.

In India, the leader of the movement is Rajmohan Gandhi, the tall and eloquent grandson of the revered Mahatma Gandhi. And in Japan the chief sponsor of the autumn invasion by the "Sing-Out" kids from America is a young business executive named Masahide Shibusawa, who was the first Japanese citizen to be received by the Prime Minister of Korea after the signing of the peace treaty between Seoul and Tokyo.

Everybody knows about Mahatma Gandhi, which means that his grandson, Rajmohan Gandhi, the editor of the Indian weekly Himmat, needs no special introduction to Americans. The ancestral background of Masahide Shibusawa is not as famous as Rajmohan Gandhi's in an international sense, but it is extremely important to Japan, for Masahide's great-grandfather, the Viscount Shibusawa, was the man who built the first textile mill in Japan, thus committing his country to all the fateful consequences of the Industrial Revolution, Western-style.

The old Viscount was a man of force and ingenuity; when he couldn't persuade the daughters of feudal peasants to work in his mill, he went to the aristocracy. Well-born Japanese women, recruited in the name of patriotism, operated the first spinning and weaving equipment in the Shibusawa mills in the effort to make Japan competitive with the West.

The argument presented by Rajmohan Gandhi and Masahide Shibusawa, who toured the United States in July and August, is that Communism must be opposed by something more inspiring than mere anti-Communism. They are looking to the West for "positive" statements of "theme" and "purpose." Of his audience with the Prime Minister of Korea, Masahide Shibusawa says: "He wanted to have a demonstration in Korea this autumn where the youth of the world would come and give the youth this new theme and new conception of the modernization of man. Korea is now going into a new phase of her history and she needs a big idea now so that her whole people can move forward to plan her real role in world history. He asked me to help plan a conference in Seoul. Then I want to have an assembly in Tokyo."

As an American who resents the multiplication of governmental coercions in the world, I have never felt the need for a "positive" theme to make me anti-Communist. I do not say this boastfully; maybe I would be a better person and a more effective anti-Communist if I could join a "positive" movement. It could be that Masahide Shibusawa and Rajmohan Gandhi are right in saying that their countries will be lost to the West unless something more than anti-Communism is supplied to fill the vacuum of purposeless lives. In any event, if the "Sing-Out" students from America can help fill a vacuum in Asia, the impact, from a distance, on America itself could be tremendous.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — About the best reason former President Dwight D. Eisenhower seems able to think of now for telling voters to go Republican next time is that the country needs a two-party system.

But that's not an issue, the usual basis on which voters choose between the parties. It's just another way of saying please help the Republican party stay alive.

Last month Eisenhower was asked specifically what he thought Republicans should make campaign issues of in next year's elections, the first big test since their devastating defeat in 1964.

He mentioned fiscal responsibility, frugality, self-dependence, self-reliance, self-respect and integrity. But he himself so far hasn't been at deep odds with President Johnson's administration on any of those subjects.

The Republican leadership in general hasn't been any more specific than Eisenhower on issues to wrap around the Democrats' necks, except for occasional criticisms that seem to melt away.

Republican cut themselves up so badly with intraparty antagonisms in the 1964 campaign, and were so smashed in the election, that they haven't yet recovered any kind of broad voice to show how they differ from Democrats.

Instead, much of their time has been taken up trying to heal last year's wounds and finding some way to save the party from being ruined altogether by splinter groups.

They have no top leader. Usually a defeated presidential candidate is considered the titular head of his party until the next election when he or someone else carries the party flag.

But this month Barry Goldwater, who led the Republicans to their 1964 disaster, said he doesn't consider himself the party's titular head. And, if he tried to be, he'd have a lot of opposition.

At this point there is not one Republican who looks like a sure bet even to try for the presidential nomination in 1968, although Richard M. Nixon, as usual between elections, is eyed.

The former vice president and defeated Republican presidential candidate of 1960 may still have hopes the party, which passed him over in 1964, will take a chance again on him three years from now.

He has been touring Asia, making statements on world affairs, and suggesting how Johnson should be tougher in Viet Nam. But, like Eisenhower, he, too, seems lacking in any basic criticism of the Democrats.

The only fairly consistent pecking and picking on Johnson has come from House Republicans, particularly from their leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, but he is not getting much mileage out of it.

The House Republicans had tried to make an issue of the origin of U.S. policy — that is, the military involvement — in Viet Nam. Johnson had said he was following the policy of Eisenhower and President John F. Kennedy in promising and making good on American aid to the South Vietnamese.

House Republicans tried to stress that Eisenhower's help was economic, not military, but, just as they were stressing it, Eisenhower said it was "rot" to suggest a difference between him and Johnson on Viet Nam.

He backed Johnson. For awhile the House Republicans obviously thought they had an issue on Johnson's decision to drop the fight to make the Soviet Union and 12 other nations pay their share of the United Nations' peace-keeping costs.

But Eisenhower backed Johnson on that, too. Nixon took pretty much the same position as Eisenhower on Viet Nam and the American backdown in the United Nations.

Johnson's handling of his constant critic, Ford, gives a good insight into the President's political technique. When he knows he has wide support on a problem, he avoids a fight that would give his opponent extra publicity.

By James Marlow

Even Goldwater seems muted. In 1964 he called Johnson "the phoniest individual who ever came around" but now is calling him "the most astute politician I have ever known."

If the Republicans hope to stay alive, they'll have to find something to fight the Democrats about. They haven't yet.

'Seeding' Hurricane Is Touchy Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nature has not produced a hurricane this year that could be seeded.

Seeding means sowing silver iodide crystals near the eye of hurricane to see if, eventually, the elemental terror of these storms can be somewhat tamed.

Dr. Joanne Simpson of the Weather Bureau told about the project. She is director of "Project Storm Fury."

Planes were ready to sow seed if and when Hurricane Betsy moved into an area safe for the experiment.

But Betsy, after moving very close to the study area in the Atlantic, stopped, made a couple of loops, and gradually moved toward the southwest. She struck an enormous blow, especially to Louisiana.

"Betsy was especially erratic; she was not a good storm to work with; we could not have determined whether seeding had any effect," said Max Edlstein, scientist with the Navy, which is jointly embarked with the Weather Bureau on long-range study.

Why must the experiments be conducted in certain areas, not others? Safety is the answer, safety for human beings, Edlstein stressed. No storm will be seeded if, on the basis of records of past hurricanes, it might within 36 hours hit a populated area.

"The seeding theory is based on scientific reasoning," Mrs. Simpson said, "but there is a possibility that any link in the chain of reasoning could be wrong."

Even if the seeding had no effect, people hit by the storm might think it had.

As for this year's other big storms, Hurricane Anna was way out to sea, too far away.

Carol, latest hurricane, was reported to be far out at sea also. Betsy was studied extensively by radar, from Navy and Air Force planes and by other means. What was learned of value to the future? It will take a year to determine that, even with computers digesting the data. Meanwhile the government will push an all-out scientific study of the hurricane menace.

Hurricanes are winds of 74 miles or more rotating counterclockwise around a calm center called the eye. The winds are held in their rotation course by enormous centrifugal forces. The idea of seeding is to drop tiny crystals of silver iodide. This should convert super-cool water in the storm clouds to ice crystals, thereby releasing heat.

The heat, if the theory is correct, should weaken the centrifugal force and thus reduce the speed of the winds.

Worthy Master, Flem Blair, presided during the business session and heard the various reports. The secretary, Helen Schleich, read thank you notes from Mrs. Charles Corkwell and Mrs. Francis Furniss for flowers and cards they had received.

The Home Economics Committee thanked everyone who had sent pies and cakes and helped at the fair and also at the card party Saturday night. Lee Kern gave a report of his trip to Kelly Island and thanked the grange for helping make the vacation possible. Harold Furniss, Youth chairman announced that the Youth Installation Team will install officers at Star Grange on Oct. 12, and neighboring granges will be invited.

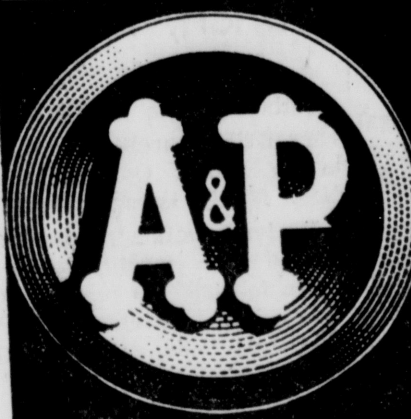

Mrs. Clyde Michel, lecturer, opened her program with group singing of "Onward Worthy Grangers" and using as her theme, "Our Grange." Mrs. Michel gave a reading on the grange and announced that it had placed first with the booth at the Fair. Miss Florence Long gave a reading, "What is a Farmer?" and Brenda Reid played a piano solo. A quiz, "What I Like About The Grange," was conducted with several members responding with well chosen remarks.

A contest on a dime was conducted and Mrs. Michel read an article on "Youth" and dedicated it to the youths that were present. Mrs. Clarence Finch read an article on the emblem of the grange and Mrs. Michel assisted by Mrs. Herman Porter and Melinda Finch built the Emblem.

The meeting closed with group singing of "It's a Good Thing To Be a Granger". The next meeting will feature election of officers and all members are urged to attend.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — About the best reason former President Dwight D. Eisenhower seems able to think of now for telling voters to go Republican next time is that the country needs a two-party system.

But that's not an issue, the usual basis on which voters choose between the parties. It's just another way of saying please help the Republican party stay alive.

Last month Eisenhower was asked specifically what he thought Republicans should make campaign issues of in next year's elections, the first big test since their devastating defeat in 1964.

He mentioned fiscal responsibility, frugality, self-dependence, self-reliance, self-respect and integrity. But he himself so far hasn't been at deep odds with President Johnson's administration on any of those subjects.

The Republican leadership in general hasn't been any more specific than Eisenhower on issues to wrap around the Democrats' necks, except for occasional criticisms that seem to melt away.

Republican cut themselves up so badly with intraparty antagonisms in the 1964 campaign, and were so smashed in the election, that they haven't yet recovered any kind of broad voice to show how they differ from Democrats.

Instead, much of their time has been taken up trying to heal last year's wounds and finding some way to save the party from being ruined altogether by splinter groups.

They have no top leader. Usually a defeated presidential candidate is considered the titular head of his party until the next election when he or someone else carries the party flag.

But this month Barry Goldwater, who led the Republicans to their 1964 disaster, said he doesn't consider himself the party's titular head. And, if he tried to be, he'd have a lot of opposition.

At this point there is not one Republican who looks like a sure bet even to try for the presidential nomination in 1968, although Richard M. Nixon, as usual between elections, is eyed.

The former vice president and defeated Republican presidential candidate of 1960 may still have hopes the party, which passed him over in 1964, will take a chance again on him three years from now.

He has been touring Asia, making statements on world affairs, and suggesting how Johnson should be tougher in Viet Nam. But, like Eisenhower, he, too, seems lacking in any basic criticism of the Democrats.

The only fairly consistent pecking and picking on Johnson has come from House Republicans, particularly from their leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, but he is not getting much mileage out of it.

The House Republicans had tried to make an issue of the origin of U.S. policy — that is, the military involvement — in Viet Nam. Johnson had said he was following the policy of Eisenhower and President John F. Kennedy in promising and making good on American aid to the South Vietnamese.

House Republicans tried to stress that Eisenhower's help was economic, not military, but, just as they were stressing it, Eisenhower said it was "rot" to suggest a difference between him and Johnson on Viet Nam.

He backed Johnson. For awhile the House Republicans obviously thought they had an issue on Johnson's decision to drop the fight to make the Soviet Union and 12 other nations pay their share of the United Nations' peace-keeping costs.

But Eisenhower backed Johnson on that, too. Nixon took pretty much the same position as Eisenhower on Viet Nam and the American backdown in the United Nations.

Johnson's handling of his constant critic, Ford, gives a good insight into the President's political technique. When he knows he has wide support on a problem, he avoids a fight that would give his opponent extra publicity.

By James Marlow

Even Goldwater seems muted. In 1964 he called Johnson "the phoniest individual who ever came around" but now is calling him "the most astute politician I have ever known."

If the Republicans hope to stay alive, they'll have to find something to fight the Democrats about. They haven't yet.

'Seeding' Hurricane Is Touchy Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nature has not produced a hurricane this year that could be seeded.

Seeding means sowing silver iodide crystals near the eye of a hurricane to see if, eventually, the elemental terror of these storms can be somewhat tamed.

Dr. Joanne Simpson of the Weather Bureau told about the project. She is director of "Project Storm Fury."

Planes were ready to sow seed if and when Hurricane Betsy moved into an area safe for the experiment.

But Betsy, after moving very close to the study area in the Atlantic, stopped, made a couple of loops, and gradually moved toward the southwest. She struck an enormous blow, especially to Louisiana.

"Betsy was especially erratic; she was not a good storm to work with; we could not have determined whether seeding had any effect," said Max Edelman, scientist with the Navy, which is jointly embarked with the Weather Bureau on long-range study.

Why must the experiments be conducted in certain areas, not others? Safety is the answer, safety for human beings, Edelman stressed. No storm will be seeded if, on the basis of records of past hurricanes, it might within 36 hours hit a populated area.

"The seeding theory is based on scientific reasoning," Mrs. Simpson said, "but there is a possibility that any link in the chain of reasoning could be wrong."

Even if the seeding had no effect, people hit by the storm might think it had.

As for this year's other big storms, Hurricane Anna was way out to sea, too far away.

Carol, latest hurricane, was reported to be far out at sea also.

Betsy was studied extensively by radar, from Navy and Air Force planes and by other means. What was learned of value to the future? It will take a year to determine that, even with computers digesting the data. Meanwhile the government will push an all-out scientific study of the hurricane menace.

Hurricanes are winds of 74 miles or more rotating counterclockwise around a calm center called the eye.

The winds are held in their

'No Fix' Tickets Out

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts has a new "no fix" traffic ticket law which provides that summonses issued by a police officer must receive court action and cannot be withdrawn by his superiors.

rotation course by enormous centrifugal forces. The idea of seeding is to drop tiny crystals of silver iodide. This should convert super-cool water in the storm clouds to ice crystals, thereby releasing heat.

The heat if the theory is correct, should weaken the centrifugal force and thus reduce the speed of the winds.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

The Right Viewpoint!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I rent our apartment by the year. We travel together quite a lot and therein lies our problem. We are friendly with a married couple I'll call Henry and Brenda. My husband gives Henry the key to our apartment when we leave town. Now Henry and whomever he entertains there don't abuse our furniture in any way. They don't drink our liquor or make a disturbance, but I don't like the idea of a married man using our apartment for what I am sure he is using it for. My husband and I see Henry and Brenda socially and I can't look her in the eye. My husband says I am silly to feel that way. Am I?

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: No, in lending your apartment, you become a party to whatever goes on there. Tell your husband you refuse to provide a love nest for a married man. And if the friendship flies out the window it's okay with you.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my daughter and her husband were separated and then divorced. I have a 16x20 picture of my daughter in her wedding gown in my living room. It gives me a lot of pleasure to look at it because I designed and made her wedding gown. It was suggested that I take it down. The groom is not in the picture. What should I do?

MEMORIES
DEAR MEMORIES: Put the picture away. If it gives you pleasure to look at it, do so in private.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor just noticed that my three-year-old son is left-handed. We've known it for a long time, but paid no attention to it because it didn't seem to matter. My neighbor says we should break him of being left-handed before it's too late because he will find it a terrible handicap when he grows older. She says her husband is left-handed and it's an awful nuisance. He has to sit at the end of the table when he eats because his arm is always hitting the person to his left. (If it's a round table, he's out of luck.) She says all the machines, tools and appliances are geared for right-handed people and it's awkward for lefties. I have never heard of these drawbacks, but they make sense to me. Should we force our child to use his right hand?

MRS. M.
DEAR MRS. M.: The inconvenience of being a southpaw is slight compared with the emotional damage a child is apt to suffer should he be forced to change. For a more detailed explanation of left-handedness, the reasons for it, etc., talk to your pediatrician.

Mrs. Pat Haynes, treasurer, reported. Mrs. Charlotte Merrin related her experiences at the WWS Retreat at Camp Otterbein. Mrs. Hawkes closed with prayer.

Mrs. Willoughby, program leader, presented "Give God Glory Through Stewardship of Time, Talent, and Energy." Mrs. Mary Radcliffe read several Bible verses and Mrs. Haynes followed with prayer and the offering. Refreshments were served to 14 members by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland C. DeLong, Route 1, Laurelville, who observed their 25th wedding anniversary Sept. 14, were honored with a dinner party at Holiday Inn, Lancaster.

An arrangement of silver leaves and 25 red roses centering the table was a gift from their granddaughter, Miss Pat Macklin. The couple received a gift of silverware from their children and families.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. David Macklin, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Dan DeLong, Danny, Sharon, Mike, Cindy and Christy; Mr. and Mrs. George Macklin and Kathy, all of Laurelville; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones, Connie and Jeff of Tarlton.

Filipino's Beautiful Wife May Win Him Presidency

MANILA (AP) — Imelda Marcos has the look of a beauty queen, the voice of a nightingale and the stamina of a paratrooper.

These assets may provide just the help her husband needs to become president of the Philippines. The election is Nov. 9.

At 35, Imelda Marcos retains the 36-23-35 measurements that helped win her a beauty title and offers of moviedom more than a decade ago. She would be a formidable campaigner in any country. In Asia, where women are supposed to stay behind the scenes, she is wonder.

In a tight, three-cornered race for the presidency, her husband, Sen. Ferdinand Marcos, 48, is slugging toe to toe with incumbent President Diosdado Macapagal while fighting off the flanking fire of Sen. Raul Manglapus.

Unfortunately for Macapagal and Manglapus, their wives are no match for Imelda on the campaign trail.

She sings at political rallies, crowns beauty queens, regally greets political callers and frequently goes careening along rutted back-country roads in a small campaign bus loaded with her accompanying "girls."

Her husband's campaign has been going full blast for 12 months. How does she feel about it all?

"Fine, just fine. Couldn't feel better. I just came back from Samar. We covered 52 barrios (villages or districts)."

Although she was born to an old political family on the island of Leyte, Imelda entered politics somewhat against their will. She didn't like it initially, then discovered it was the only way to keep up with her husband — whose energy matches hers.

They met in the cafeteria of the House of Representatives when she visited her father, then presiding officer.

In the tradition of his home province, he sent two roses to Imelda that very night — one in full bloom and one in delicate bud. They signified the full-blown love he already felt and the budding feeling he hoped to arouse in her.

Few young women could withstand such treatment from a war hero already regarded as the boy wonder of Philippine politics. She succumbed after a three-week courtship. Three children later she remains the envy of a beauty-loving nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macklin and Stevie, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Macklin and family; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Macklin and family; all from California; Pat Macklin; Mr. and Mrs. Wally Macklin and Jeff; all of Columbus; Rick Macklin of Laurelville.

Apart from praising her husband, Imelda publicly avoids issues but in private conversation she is thoroughly informed. She is immune from attack. "It would be unthinkable to attack a woman in the Philippines," admits one seasoned campaigner. "We have a national tradition of reverence for women and any candidate who got trapped into a thing like that would be finished."

The opposition acknowledges, somewhat ruefully, that there is little to be done about Imelda.

Calvary WWS Members Hold Brunch, Meet

A brunch was held when members of the WWS of Calvary EUB Church met recently in the annex. Opal Betz and Mrs. Manly Carothers served.

Evelyn DeLong, president, opened the meeting with a poem followed by prayer. Martha Davis had charge of the program topic, "Give God Glory Through Stewardship of Time, Talent and Energy."

The group sang hymns. Meditation was held on stewardship in its various phases. Martha Davis was moderator and others participating were, Eleanor Wilson, Ruth Goeller, Rosemary Flowers, Deloris Wolfe and Opal Betz. Clara DeLong gave the closing prayer.

Virginia Archer announced that the church shared in the distribution of clothing at the Circleville Clothing Center. Evelyn DeLong, Hazel Cline and Eleanor Wilson reported on the WWS Retreat at Camp Otterbein.

Hazel Cline, Myrtle Leist and Opal Betz were appointed to the nominating committee.

A carry-in dinner and guest night will be observed at the next meeting, Oct. 12.

Flaked cooked fresh salmon and finely chopped celery make a delicious luncheon salad; mix lightly with salad dressing — any kind you like — and serve on salad greens with gherkins.

Games were played with prizes going to Miss Lucille Kirkwood and Mrs. Dave Lemley.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren The Right Viewpoint!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I rent our apartment by the year. We travel together quite a lot and therein lies our problem. We are friendly with a married couple I'll call Henry and Brenda. My husband gives Henry the key to our apartment when we leave town. Now Henry and whomever he entertains there don't abuse our furniture in any way. They don't drink our liquor or make a disturbance, but I don't like the idea of a married man using our apartment for what I am sure he is using it for. My husband and I see Henry and Brenda socially and I can't look her in the eye. My husband says I am silly to feel that way. Am I?

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: No, I'm lending your apartment, you become a party to whatever goes on there. Tell your husband you refuse to provide a love nest for a married man. And if the friendship flies out the window it's okay with you.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my daughter and her husband were separated and then divorced. I have a 16x20 picture of my daughter in her wedding gown in my living room. It gives me a lot of pleasure to look at it because I designed and made her wedding gown. It was suggested that I take it down. The groom is not in the picture. What should I do?

MEMORIES
DEAR MEMORIES: Put the picture away. If it gives you pleasure to look at it, do so in private.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor just noticed that my three-year-old son is left-handed. We've known it for a long time, but paid no attention to it because it didn't seem to matter. My neighbor says we should break him of being left-handed before it's too late because he will find it a terrible handicap when he grows older. She says her husband is left-handed and it's an awful nuisance. He has to sit at the end of the table when he eats because his arm is always hitting the person to his left. (If it's a round table, he's out of luck.) She says all the machines, tools and appliances are geared for right-handed people and it's awkward for lefties. I have never heard of these drawbacks, but they make sense to me. Should we force our child to use his right hand?

MRS. M.
DEAR MRS. M.: The inconvenience of being a southpaw is slight compared with the emotional damage a child is apt to suffer should he be forced to change. For a more detailed explanation of left-handedness, the reasons for it, etc., talk to your pediatrician.

Filipino's Beautiful Wife May Win Him Presidency

MANILA (AP) — Imelda Marcos has the look of a beauty queen, the voice of a nightingale and the stamina of a paratrooper.

These assets may provide just the help her husband needs to become president of the Philippines. The election is Nov. 9.

At 35, Imelda Marcos retains the 36-23-35 measurements that helped win her a beauty title and offers of moviedom more than a decade ago. She would be a formidable campaigner in any country. In Asia, where women are supposed to stay behind the scenes, she is wonder.

In a tight, three-cornered race for the presidency, her husband, Sen. Ferdinand Marcos, 48, is slugging toe to toe with incumbent President Diosdado Macapagal while fighting off the flanking fire of Sen. Raul Manglapus.

Unfortunately for Macapagal and Manglapus, their wives are no match for Imelda on the campaign trail.

She sings at political rallies, crowns beauty queens, regally greets political callers and frequently goes careening along rutted back-country roads in a small campaign bus loaded with her accompanying "girls."

Her husband's campaign has been going full blast for 12 months. How does she feel about it all?

"Fine, just fine. Couldn't feel better. I just came back from Samar. We covered 52 barrios (villages or districts)."

Although she was born to an old political family on the island of Leyte, Imelda entered politics somewhat against their will. She didn't like it initially, then discovered it was the only way to keep up with her husband — whose energy matches hers.

They met in the cafeteria of the House of Representatives when she visited her father, then presiding officer.

In the tradition of his home province, he sent two roses to Imelda that very night — one in full bloom and one in delicate bud. They signified the full-blown love he already felt and the budding feeling he hoped to arouse in her.

Few young women could withstand such treatment from a war hero already regarded as the boy wonder of Philippine politics. She succumbed after a three-week courtship. Three children later she remains the envy of a beauty-loving nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macklin and Stevie, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Macklin and family; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Macklin and family; all from California; Pat Macklin; Mr. and Mrs. Wally Macklin and Jeff; all of Columbus; Rick Macklin of Laurelville.

Barry's Defeat as Reason For Exile Labeled 'Joke'

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Robert Ansett may be remembered in California as the young American who took his family to Australia—assertedly because Barry Goldwater lost the presidential election. In Australia, Robert Ansett is known as a transport magnate's son who returned home to make good. Ansett, 31; his wife, Karen; and their three children arrived last April and settled into a house in a Melbourne suburb. He has become general manager of one of Australia's four big rent-a-car firms and is showing business acumen as he struggles to improve his company's position in a tough market. Ansett's father, Reginald Myles Ansett, heads the huge Ansett Transport Industries, including an airline. The younger Ansett hasn't found it necessary to call on his father's resources. The son — by a previous marriage — lived in Melbourne until he was 10. He is an American citizen. "I knew nothing about the car rental business when I decided to leave San Diego and migrate back to Australia," he said. "I had not even thought of making a living from renting cars." He has helped lift the firm from a small one-city outfit into a nationwide operation. Last year, the father warned Robert he was getting to an age when it might soon be too late for him to migrate successfully. "I made a now-or-never decision," Ansett said. "But when some of our San Diego friends suggested that we were leaving because Barry Goldwater lost, we kidded along with them. "Mind you, I'm still a Republican at heart and a Goldwater Republican. But I've also started thinking like an Australian which complicates it a little."

Ansett has received letters supporting his migration, from "equally upset Republicans." His secretary has stenciled his first impression of Australia for people who feel they would like to follow him Down Under. He replies to every letter. "I tell them the truth," said Ansett. "I point out that I am delighted with this country but then, it is my birthplace. I don't feel lost here, no matter how hard you have to battle at first. "I tell them I have come with contacts to ease me into Australian social and business life. I warn them that they may not find it so easy if they come here without such advantages."

Ansett states the cost of living in Australia on a par with that in San Diego. Home financing is much tougher — you cannot buy a house without at least a fourth of its value as a deposit. "It's harder to get into debt. People just aren't prepared to lend you money without good security," he said.

Veteran Escapee Due For Federal Hearing
CINCINNATI (AP)—Car theft and escape charges against Malcolm Scarbrough, 30, will be considered here next week by a federal grand jury. Scarbrough, who reputedly has escaped from custody at least 11 times, was brought here Tuesday from Knoxville, Tenn. He was arrested at Morristown, Tenn., Sept. 11, two days after he escaped from General Hospital here where he was being treated for a bullet wound. Police say Scarbrough apparently was shot during a filling station burglary in Bellefontaine.

Experiment with Juvenile Delinquents Said Success

CLEVELAND (AP)—"There never was anything the matter with those kids that parents and a little discipline would not have taken care of in the first place," said the auto agency foreman. Paul Hulka was talking about five teen-agers who admitted doing $10,000 damage to 39 cars at the East Side auto agency where he works. Juvenile Court Judge John J. Toner asked the agency manager, Berge Tookman, to put the boys to work because their parents couldn't pay for the damage. "If you have any problems at all, notify me and I'll send them all to the Cleveland Boys School in Hudson," Judge Toner told Tookman in July. The judge and agency officials compared notes Monday on the probation plan. All agreed it had succeeded far beyond expectations. When the boys broke into the agency storage building, they began playing tag with the cars, smashing them in headon and broadside collisions. One youth jumped from an overhead I-beam and caved in the roof of one car. The repair bill on one auto was $795. Police said the interior of the building looked as though it had been hit by a tornado. Hulka said when the boys first started to work "they alternately acted like tough guys and lost sheep."

Billboard Ban Approved by House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works committee, with administration officials in the wings, Tuesday approved a bill that would ban billboards on much of the nation's highway system. The bill, produced after strenuous White House prodding and night and early morning committee sessions, closely parallels one passed last week by the Senate. It would bar all billboards closer than 660 feet to interstate and primary roads, except in commercial areas, and require junkyards within a 1,000 feet of the roadway to be either screened or removed. In commercial areas, the secretary of commerce would be empowered to set standards covering the size and number of signs. The federal government would have to pay 75 per cent of the cost of compensating billboard owners for any signs that have to be taken down, with the states paying the rest.

"We put them to work, but they seemed glad to have somebody tell them what to do," he said. "It's almost like they found another home here. But that is not hard to understand, either."

"All the mechanics and salesmen went out of their way to be understanding," Hulka said. "When the boys started they did not know one end of a tool from the other. They did everything we asked — they swept floors, they washed cars, hauled supplies and helped with the remodeling of the storage building. They helped and watched the mechanics."

"But I'll tell you what surprised us most," Hulka added. "Not once while they were working here, did any of the parents either call or stop by to see how they were getting along."

The five boys are now back in school. Two of them have been promised employment for wages at the auto agency next summer.

The agency's parts manager gave one boy $10 when he returned to school.

Judge Toner said, "I am sure it was good for the boys. We take a chance when we attempt something like this, but fortunately everybody got into the spirit of the effort."

Here's Panorama Of Week's News

Editor's Note—Glances from the U. S. scene this week include oysters fattened on cornmeal in Florida, two presidential greeters leaving Texas, a windblown lady atop the Arizona Capitol, a white dog leading a destructive pack in Maryland and signs of a long winter in Colorado.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A worldwide search for a food to fatten oysters seems to have ended in a Florida cornfield.

The State Conservation Department reports that a diet of pulverized cornmeal puts zing in an oyster's life—comparatively speaking.

"It's the damndest thing," research director Robert Ingle reported.

"Cornmeal isn't a thing the average oyster would be able to find. Yet, when we feed them the things they would get in the sea nothing happens. They don't get fat, tasty or anything."

Fat in an oyster isn't like fat on a person. Instead, it is a substance called lycogen and it makes the oysters plumper, firmer, tastier and makes them go down much smoother.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — How would you like the chance to have regular informal chats with the president of the United States?

That was the exciting lot of Col. and Mrs. Frank Bender, who are leaving Texas after almost two years as presidential greeters at Bergstrom Air Force Base here.

Whenever President Johnson used Bergstrom on his weekend trips to Texas, the Benders were on hand—Bender in his role as commanding officer of the big Strategic Air Command base, his blonde wife as an official assistant.

The President often kissed Mrs. Bender on the cheek after warmly shaking the colonel's hand.

The Benders say they are looking forward to life in Jackson, Miss., where he will run an auto dealership, but it won't be as exciting as being a presidential greeter.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — She may be curious, or she may be restless, but the lady on top of the old Arizona State Capitol isn't about to be anchored in one spot.

The statue of the lady holding a torch originally was placed on the Capitol dome as a weather vane.

Unfortunately, the prevailing wind usually turned the lady so her posterior was presented to the front of the building.

She isn't used as a weather vane any more, but she still won't face to the front all the time.

Floyd Williams, the building superintendent, is forced occasionally to turn large set screws which hold the lady in place. A few days later, the prevailing wind has her rear facing Phoenix again.

"I'm going to keep turning the screws instead of anchoring her down," Williams said. "A real strong desert wind, instead of turning our lady around, might blow her off the building."

SHAVOX, Md. (AP) — A huge, snow-white German shepherd dog that roams the pine forests near this Eastern Shore village has become a legend in his own time.

Leading a pack of wild dogs that numbers variously from 15 to 25, he has destroyed chickens, hogs, countless dogs and cats and an untold number of deer.

Harry Powers, dog control officer for Wicomico County, said he's been after the pack for more than three months.

"I've dropped six of them and Ray has gotten four more. They hang up back in the woods behind here."

"They've got into some pigs down there and they've killed any number of dogs. They'll attack anything that gets in front of them—human or animal either one."

"I'm just afraid they're going to get a kid."

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Skiing never is very far from the minds of Coloradans, especially those who depend for a living on dollars spent by winter visitors.

Floods in June and wet, cool weather in July cut sharply into the state's summer tourist season, although there was a big pickup in August.

Now Clarence Hockom, manager of the Colorado Visitors Bureau, and other authorities say there may be some compensations—the ski season may be longer than usual this winter.

Old-times in the mountains claim to have noted signs of a long, hard winter—beaver building bigger storage caches earlier, mountain ponies turning shaggy, anthills higher than usual, and songbirds flying South.

DONALD F. GAINES

Donald Gaines Now Foreman At GE Plant

Donald F. Gaines, 226 Nicholas Drive, has been promoted to the supervisory staff of the Circleville General Electric plant, it was announced by E. G. Grigg, plant manager.

Gaines has been named to the position of foreman—Slimline and High Output lamp production. He assumed his new duties Monday.

In making the announcement, Grigg noted that Gaines is the seventeenth hourly employee to be promoted to a supervisory position at the local plant.

A native of Pickaway County, Gaines began his GE career in January of 1956 as a box tapper in the warehouse. Since that time he has held jobs in all departments and on all three shifts. His most recent assignment was as a mount maintenance mechanic.

GAINES was graduated from Centralia High School in Ross County in 1954. He was a member of the Ohio Air National Guard and served in France from October 1961 to August 1962 when his unit was activated during the Berlin crisis. He was discharged with the rank of staff sergeant.

The new GE foreman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Gaines, Renick Avenue. He is married to the former Mary F. Cassidy of this community.

He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie Lodge 685 of Circleville.

Antique Gun Theft Hearing Is Slated

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Arraignment is set for Friday morning in municipal court for two men accused of taking an antique gun collection valued at $11,000.

Norman Allard, 30, of Jefferson and Gerald Santillo, 22, of Ashtabula pleaded innocent Tuesday in Ashtabula County Common Pleas Court. They were ordered held on $4,500 bond each.

Police and the Ashtabula County Sheriff's Department recovered the collection from a car parked in a garage in Geneva Township.

Doctor To Realize Dream, Aid Underdeveloped Area

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — For 15 years, Dr. Porter H. Smith, 40, descendant of New Bedford whaling captains, has dreamed of spreading medical knowledge and skills in underdeveloped lands.

He scrimped and saved every possible penny during those years.

When he was married in 1961, he moved with his bride into a small apartment to cut expenses.

Now Dr. Smith plans to set sail for Central America — and the fulfillment of his dream.

With him aboard the 45-foot ketch Christiania, will be his wife, their three children, and a volunteer medical technician.

Dr. Smith said they hope to leave sometime next month.

He said the desire to help the underprivileged of other lands developed when he worked as a deckhand on freighters while studying medicine at Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania.

"I even chose my specialty with this in mind," Dr. Smith, an anesthesiologist, physician and surgeon, said, "I don't have any regular patients depending on me."

His wife, Kay, 30, is an X-ray technician who has shared Dr. Smith's enthusiasm for the venture since before their marriage in 1961. The couple met in Madison, Wis., where he interned.

Mrs. Smith said their three girls, Theresa, 3, Jennifer, 2, and Sara Jones, 1, are excited about the trip. "They know they're going to live on a boat and that's all they talk about," she said.

The volunteer is Gisela Priebe, a young operating room technician the Smiths met in Milwaukee where Dr. Smith was in practice. She is a native of Tuttingen, Germany.

"My wife, Miss Priebe and I can work together as a medical team," Dr. Smith said. "We hope to become a sort of auxil-

FHA Names Banker as Staff Member

State director James T. McDorman of the Farmers Home Administration has announced the appointment of Robert V. Oakley, Nelsonville, as a member of the Farmers Home Administration State Advisory Committee.

The main function of the committee is to advise the state director on the adaptation of national policies to best meet local conditions and needs.

Oakley is currently associated with The Peoples Bank, Nelsonville, as president, a position he has held for the past 12 years. He also has coal interests that he has operated for a number of years and is associated with his son in the insurance and real estate business.

He is active in civic affairs and is currently president and director of the Hocking Conservancy District. Mr. Oakley is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Church and is affiliated with the Masonic and Elks organizations.

Other members of the State Advisory Committee for the Farmers Home Administration are C. Maurice Wieting, Columbus, Howard J. Ziegler, Clyde; Carlos Achon, New Vienna, O.; and Russell H. Lehman, Wooster. Ex-officio members are Dean Roy M. Kottman and Associate Director E. L. Kirby from the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, Columbus.

McDorman also announced a tour planned for the state advisory committee into Adams County on September 23 and 24 to observe families that are using the services of the Farmers Home Administration. Included in the tour will be visits to borrowers who have received assistance under the following authorizations: rural housing, recreation, farm ownership, operating, and economic opportunity loans. Also, a rural community will be visited which is interested in FHA assistance in developing a water system.

The Farmers Home Administration, an Agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, serves eligible farmers with credit and needed technical help on farm and money management problems. Loans are made only to applicants unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources at reasonable rates and terms.

Dayton Judge Named Appeals Chief Justice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Second District Court of Appeals Judge Calvin Crawford of Dayton was elected chief justice of the Ohio Courts of Appeal Tuesday.

He succeeds Judge William C. Bryant of the 10th District Court of Appeals, Columbus. Judge J. Thomas Guernsey of Lima, judge of the 3rd District Court of Appeals, was named secretary.

Park Attendance Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Parks Division Chief Melvin J. Rebholz says nearly one million persons visited Ohio's parks and recreation spots this year. That's an increase of more than 200,000 over last year.

NEW PLAYGROUND SITE — All that remains of the old Franklin St. Elementary School is a pile of rubble. The building was leveled to make way for a playground for students attending Mount St. School that now houses students of the old building. The area is expected to be completely cleared within a few days and work on the playground will begin.

PTA News

Here's Panorama Of Week's News

Editor's Note—Glimpses from the U. S. scene this week include oysters fattened on cornmeal in Florida, two presidential greeters leaving Texas, a windblown lady atop the Arizona Capitol, a white dog leading a destructive pack in Maryland and signs of a long winter in Colorado.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A worldwide search for a food to fatten oysters seems to have ended in a Florida cornfield.

The State Conservation Department reports that a diet of pulverized cornmeal puts zing in an oyster's life—comparatively speaking.

"It's the damndest thing," research director Robert Ingle reported.

"Cornmeal isn't a thing the average oyster would be able to find. Yet, when we feed them the things they would get in the sea nothing happens. They don't get fat, tasty or anything."

Fat in an oyster isn't like fat on a person. Instead, it is a substance called lyogen and it makes the oysters plumper, firmer, tastier and makes them go down much smoother.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — How would you like the chance to have regular informal chats with the president of the United States?

That was the exciting lot of Col. and Mrs. Frank Bender, who are leaving Texas after almost two years as presidential greeters at Bergstrom Air Force Base here.

Whenever President Johnson used Bergstrom on his weekend trips to Texas, the Benders were on hand—Bender in his role as commanding officer of the big Strategic Air Command base, his blonde wife as an official assistant.

The President often kissed Mrs. Bender on the cheek after warmly shaking the colonel's hand.

The Benders say they are looking forward to life in Jackson, Miss., where he will run an auto dealership, but it won't be as exciting as being a presidential greeter.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — She may be curious, or she may be restless, but the lady on top of the old Arizona State Capitol isn't about to be anchored in one spot.

The statue of the lady holding a torch originally was placed on the Capitol dome as a weather vane.

Unfortunately, the prevailing wind usually turned the lady so her posterior was presented to the front of the building.

She isn't used as a weather vane any more, but she still won't face to the front all the time.

Floyd Williams, the building superintendent, is forced occasionally to turn large set screws which hold the lady in place. A few days later, the prevailing wind has her rear facing Phoenix again.

"I'm going to keep turning the screws instead of anchoring her down," Williams said. "A real strong desert wind, instead of turning our lady around, might blow her off the building."

SHAVOX, Md. (AP) — A huge, snow-white German shepherd dog that roams the pine forests near this Eastern Shore village has become a legend in his own time.

Leading a pack of wild dogs that numbers variously from 15 to 25, he has destroyed chickens, hogs, countless dogs and cats and an untold number of deer.

Harry Powers, dog control officer for Wicomico County, said he's been after the pack for more than three months.

"I've dropped six of them and Ray has gotten four more. They hang up back in the woods behind here."

"They've got into some pigs down there and they've killed any number of dogs. They'll attack anything that gets in front of them—human or animal either one."

"I'm just afraid they're going to get a kid."

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Skiing never is very far from the minds of Coloradans, especially those who depend for a living on dollars spent by winter visitors.

Floods in June and wet, cool weather in July cut sharply into the state's summer tourist season, although there was a big pickup in August.

Now Clarence Hockom, manager of the Colorado Visitors Bureau, and other authorities say there may be some compensations—the ski season may be longer than usual this winter.

Old-timers in the mountains claim to have noted signs of a long, hard winter—beaver building bigger storage caches earlier, mountain ponies turning shaggy, mountains higher than usual, and songbirds flying South.

DONALD F. GAINES

Donald Gaines Now Foreman At GE Plant

Donald F. Gaines, 226 Nicholas Drive, has been promoted to the supervisory staff of the Circleville General Electric plant, it was announced by E. G. Grigg, plant manager.

Gaines has been named to the position of foreman—Slimline and High Output lamp production. He assumed his new duties Monday.

In making the announcement, Grigg noted that Gaines is the seventeenth hourly employee to be promoted to a supervisory position at the local plant.

A native of Pickaway County, Gaines began his GE career in January of 1956 as a box tapper in the warehouse. Since that time he has held jobs in all departments and on all three shifts. His most recent assignment was as a mount maintenance mechanic.

GAINES was graduated from Centralia High School in Ross County in 1954. He was a member of the Ohio Air National Guard and served in France from October 1961 to August 1962 when his unit was activated during the Berlin crisis. He was discharged with the rank of staff sergeant.

The new GE foreman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Gaines, Renick Avenue. He is married to the former Mary F. Cassidy of this community.

He is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie Lodge 685 of Circleville.

Antique Gun Theft Hearing Is Slated

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Arraignment is set for Friday morning in municipal court for two men accused of taking an antique gun collection valued at $11,000.

Norman Allard, 30, of Jefferson and Gerald Santillo, 22, of Ashtabula pleaded innocent Tuesday in Ashtabula County Common Pleas Court. They were ordered held on $4,500 bond each.

Police and the Ashtabula County Sheriff's Department recovered the collection from a car parked in a garage in Geneva Township.

Doctor To Realize Dream, Aid Underdeveloped Area

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — For 15 years, Dr. Porter H. Smith, 40, descendant of New Bedford whaling captains, has dreamed of spreading medical knowledge and skills in underdeveloped lands.

He scrimped and saved every possible penny during those years.

When he was married in 1961, he moved with his bride into a small apartment to cut expenses.

Now Dr. Smith plans to set sail for Central America — and the fulfillment of his dream.

With him aboard the 45-foot ketch Christiania, will be his wife, their three children, and a volunteer medical technician.

Dr. Smith said they hope to leave sometime next month.

He said the desire to help the underprivileged of other lands developed when he worked as a deckhand on freighters while studying medicine at Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania.

"I even chose my specialty with this in mind," Dr. Smith, an anesthesiologist, physician and surgeon, said. "I don't have any regular patients depending on me."

His wife, Kay, 30, is an X-ray technician who has shared Dr. Smith's enthusiasm for the venture since before their marriage in 1961. The couple met in Madison, Wis., where he interned.

Mrs. Smith said their three girls, Theresa, 3, Jennifer, 2, and Sara Jones, 1, are excited about the trip. "They know they're going to live on a boat and that's all they talk about," she said.

The volunteer is Gisela Priebe, a young operating room technician the Smiths met in Milwaukee where Dr. Smith was in practice. She is a native of Tuttingen, Germany.

"My wife, Miss Priebe and I can work together as a medical team," Dr. Smith said. "We hope to become a sort of auxiliary to the hospital ship SS Hope, going to shallow water inlets in Central America that the larger boat cannot enter."

The building was leveled to make way for a playground for students attending Mound St. School that now houses students of the old building. The area is expected to be completely cleared within a few days and work on the playground will begin.

Berry, Brown Win Polls in 7th District

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Clarence J. Brown Jr., political newcomer with a noted Republican name, squared off today against a young prosecuting attorney in a nationally watched fall election for the congressional seat Brown's father held 27 years.

Brown, a newspaper publisher, swamped six opponents for the GOP nomination in a special primary Tuesday while prosecutor James A. Berry of Clark County, most populous of the 7th District's eight counties, easily defeated a lone Democratic opponent.

Democrats promised a strong campaign with party help from Washington in Western Ohio district which has elected only two Democratic congressmen since the turn of the century, the last time during the 1936 Roosevelt landslide.

Democratic leaders term their chances the best in 30 years because President Johnson carried all but one county last year and Democrats cut in half the 1962 margin of Clarence J. Brown Sr. Brown, ranking Republican on the House Rules Committee, died Aug. 23.

The term sought by his 38-year-old son and Berry, 35, runs to Jan. 3, 1967. The winner will be determined in a Nov. 2 special election called to coincide with Ohio city elections.

Former U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of Ohio's late "Mr. Republican" and a friend of young Brown, feels the election outcome could point to a national trend for the 1966 congressional elections.

Taft and other GOP leaders expressed confidence that recent Democratic gains in the traditionally conservative district could be reversed. Brown scheduled a meeting today with Ohio party leaders to plan an intensive campaign, expected to feature national GOP speakers.

More than 41,000 voters turned out on a hot sunny day, about twice the number predicted by election officials for the district with 450,000 population, Republicans outvoted Democrats 3-1.

Judge Rules 'Lockout,' Idle Pay OK

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — A common pleas judge has reversed the decision of a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Review Board and ruled that 181 employees of a chemical plant were eligible for unemployment compensation.

Members of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Local 705 were allegedly "locked out" of the sodium and chlorine plant of the U.S. Chemicals Co. of Ashtabula for failing to agree to a 72-hour strike notice. The union would agree only to a 24-hour notice after their contract expired on June 30, 1964, Judge Thomas D. Lambros said.

Judge Lambros said his ruling was based on the decision that "there was no eminent danger of strike," and therefore the company's action was technically a lockout. He said the company notified the workers their jobs would be taken over June 30 by technical and supervisory personnel from other plants. The contract was settled on Aug. 8. This is the first case in Ohio dealing with unemployment compensation in terms of a lockout, Judge Lambros said.

Doctor Visits Local Family

Dr. and Mrs. D. F. Cowan of Montreal, Canada, spent a weekend at the Saul Rogols home on Northridge Road. Accompanied by his family, Dr. Cowan is on a month's leave from the Neuropathological Institute of Canada and from McGill University in Montreal.

Dr. Cowan's visits to Circleville have been spent between his many scientific expeditions. In 1962 and 1963 he was physician and officer-in-charge at the Byrd Station in Antarctica and has been on several missions deep into the Antarctica coming within a few miles of the South Pole.

Before undertaking his present position as a Neuropathological Fellow associated with McGill University, Dr. Cowan was on an expedition to the Arctic for studying the habits and pathology of the whale. His findings, which are regarded as a milestone, are soon to be published.

WATERING THE HAIR

Q. I have always heard that use of water to keep the hair in place is harmful. Is this true?
A. Daily use of water to facilitate hair grooming is harmful because it permits brushing neglect, and brushing is one of the best stimulants for the scalp. The same taboo applies to oil or grease if used as a "lazy man's" way of keeping the hair groomed. Most scalps, if the hair is well brushed every day, will produce enough oil to keep the hair in place without artificial means.

HEAD NOISES AND GUN FIRE

Q. Several months after being discharged from the Navy I began to have a constant ringing or hissing sound in my ears. Could this be due to exposure to gunfire? Is there any treatment?

A. Head noises following exposure to excessive noise is due to injury to the acoustic or hearing nerve. There is no effective treatment either medical or surgical. However, avoidance of further exposure to loud noise, may result in improvement in the condition with time.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

State's Scenic Wonderland Accented by Hocking Hills

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last of a series of tours of Ohio attractions prepared for readers of The Herald by the Columbus Auto Club.

Long popular in all seasons, Hocking Hills State Park takes on new interest this year with a recent visit there by Governor James A. Rhodes and his "Wonderful World of Ohio" party.

The park, in southern Ohio, includes 8,320 acres. It is on and near State Route 56 between Circleville and Athens, with Logan and McArthur as other points of entry.

This area is noted for the widest variety of trees and plants to be found in Ohio. It has 110 kinds of birds and nearly every species of game known to the mid-west.

Here are some of the units included in the Hocking Parks which can be visited at anytime right up to the turning of the leaves:

Ash Cave, 80 acres, taking its name from a semicircular recess in a great rock, 700 feet long and 90 feet high.

Cantwell Cliffs, 386 acres, featuring impressive cliffs and a deep, rugged glen.

Old Man's Cave, 417 acres, containing two miles of heavily wooded, winding ravine, picturesque waterfalls, two caves and interesting rock formations.

Cedar Falls, 50 acres, with a path leading from Old Man's Cave through a gorge to a salt-peter cave.

Conkle's Hollow, 57 acres, a rugged area containing a deep gorge which ends in a small cave and a waterfall.

Rock House, 165 acres, where an unusual rock house is found in the face of a perpendicular cliff.

Not far from Hocking Park, at Tarlton, is Tarlton Cross, a prehistoric Indian effigy mound maintained by the Ohio Historical Society.

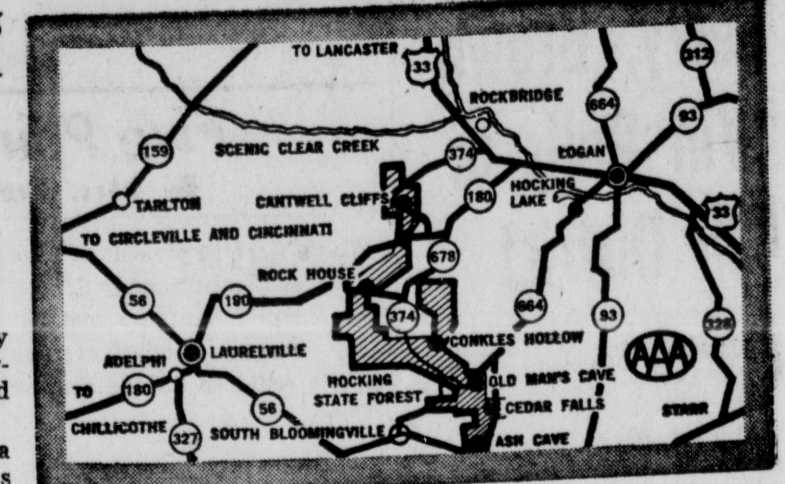

At all the places mentioned, picnic facilities are available.

The Columbus Auto Club suggests this routing to the tour area: Ohio Route 56 to the parks.

Community Fund in Action

Pickaway's Girl Scouters Learn by Working Together

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 10. The goal is $40,000.

By JOAN SILLS
Girl Scouting has done much to help girls in Pickaway County develop in citizenship and self-reliance.

Girls from the ages of 7 to 17 participate in Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior scout troops throughout Pickaway County.

There are 27 troops in the county located at Circleville, Ashville, Williamsport and Salt Creek Twp. The 434 girls registered with the Girl Scout Council are guided by 128 adults.

Pickaway County is divided into three neighborhoods. They include: Ashville, Mrs. John Sabin, chairman; Circleville, Mrs. William Hulse, chairman; and Five Trails, no chairman at present.

THIS YEAR 80 girls enjoyed camping for eight days at Camp Miska, located on the Lyman Penn farm in Salt Creek Twp. In the spring volunteers helped to prepare the camp for summer.

A shelter, erected by dads, was built onto the cabin which previously had been too small to house all girls in case of rain. New trees and a wildflower garden which were added by the girls also helped to beautify the camp.

Girls learn to work together by setting up their campsites and planning programs and activities. When camping out, they plan their daily chore schedule which is called a Kaper Chart.

Each girl is responsible for her individual duty at camp. The duties are rotated for each day.

Service is also an important part of scouting. Among the services rendered in Pickaway County last year were: working as volunteers at Berger Hospital; baby sitting service on election day and also for Ashville PTA meetings; church bulletins for Girl Scout Sunday; conducted flag raising ceremony and planted flowers at Ashville Community Park; prepared displays for County Fair and Pumpkin Show Float Parade; made toys for Children's Home; visited and gave parties for handicapped and retarded children.

Girl Scouts are a fine organization dedicated to teaching physical development, good citizenship, self-reliance and character. Community Fund contributions are well spent on scouting.

Itch Powder, Carpet Tacks Urged as Anti-Red Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air drops of rattlesnakes, itching powder and carpet tacks. One-way mirrors to make American soldiers invisible. A chain link fence to keep Communist reinforcements out of South Vietnam.

These are some of the hundreds of suggestions sent to the Defense Department by citizens anxious to help win the war.

Such letters — some typewritten, some hand scrawled — arrive at the office of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at the rate of about 40 or 50 a week. Others go directly to the various armed services.

Although some of the ideas are bizarre, many appear carefully thought out. All evidently are sincere.

No matter how odd an idea may seem, its author gets a thank you letter from the Defense Department. Some of the writers obviously realize their ideas are way out. One of them wrote, "I won't mind if you smile."

A random check of the letters indicates people would like to give the military professionals a hand in rooting out and killing elusive Viet Cong guerrillas and protecting Americans from harm.

Suspended Car Drivers Offered Special School

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Starting in January auto drivers with revoked licenses can get their permits back sooner by going to driver improvement school.

Under the plan, drivers will be retrained in defensive driving, taught safe driving habits and compliance with traffic laws under a two-hours-a-week, month-long course. The course will permit drivers to cut as much as two months off the time their licenses have been suspended.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1965. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged as a spy by the British.

On this date
In 1862, Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

In 1938, Adolf Hitler met Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain at Bad Godesberg.

In 1939, Russian and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1940, Japanese troops invaded Indochina.

In 1946, President Truman named W. Averell Harriman as Secretary of Commerce to replace Henry A. Wallace, who had resigned in a difference of opinion with Truman over U.S. policy toward the Soviet Union.

Ten years ago — A British airliner crashed in Libya, killing 15 of the 47 on board.

Five years ago — President Eisenhower flew to New York, addressed the U.N. General Assembly and conferred privately with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

One year ago — The Defense Department said it believed that one, and perhaps three, unidentified craft were sunk in an encounter with two U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam.

Comic Mischa Auer Plans To Wed Widow

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Mischa Auer, 59, and Mrs. Elsie Souls Lee, a widow, obtained a marriage license Monday. Auer provided comic relief in dozens of movies and plays with his Russian accent.

Canada's 'Peace Corps' Is Growing

TORONTO (AP) —Canada's version of the Peace Corps, started four years ago, has 318 volunteers in 22 countries of Asia, Africa and South America.

Called the Canadian University Service Overseas —CUSO—the privately administered organization hopes eventually to have 1,000 young people working in developing countries.

Until this year, CUSO has relied almost totally on private sources for its finances. The Canadian government gave $500,000 toward the project this year to supplement $250,000 already raised.

The government indicated it will continue to contribute to CUSO despite the fact that it is planning a similar organization of its own, called the Company of Young Canadians.

"I'm sure we will be putting 500 workers a year into the field within a year or two," says CUSO's secretary, William McWhinney. "On a two-year assignment basis, that will give us 1,000 before very long."

Ex-Episcopal Bishop Is Hailed by Students

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Arthur H. Lichtenburger, past presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States, has been selected by the students of Seabury Western Theological Seminary as the man they'd most like to emulate.

Bishop Lichtenburger received the Seabury-Eastern Cross as the "man who has the unanimous approval of the student body as being a person who has influenced their lives and has been an example for them to follow in their future ministry."

Interested candidates are screened first by volunteer committees at 33 Canadian universities and then put through a final examination by a national committee at CUSO headquarters in Ottawa.

Those accepted—208 out of more than 300 this year—undergo extensive training first in Canada and then in the country of destination. The stress is on language, although this year's orientation program includes a seminar in community development.

Recipient countries pay the salaries of volunteers on a local-equivalent basis and have the final say in accepting a volunteer for any specific assignment. The failure rate is less than 5 per cent.

CUSO pays the bill for orientation, transportation, insurance, some allowances and central administration. McWhinney says it works out to $2,500 to $3,000 per volunteer, compared with the $18,000-a-member cost of the U.S. Peace Corps.

CUSO volunteers include social workers in Sarawak, mechanical engineers in Kenya, town planners in Tanzania, lab technicians in Jamaica and geologists in Ecuador.

Community Fund in Action

Pickaway's Girl Scouters Learn by Working Together

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 10. The goal is $40,000.

By JOAN SILLS

Girl Scouting has done much to help girls in Pickaway County develop in citizenship and self-reliance.

Girls from the ages of 7 to 17 participate in Brownie, Junior, Cadette, and Senior scout troops throughout Pickaway County.

There are 27 troops in the county located at Circleville, Ashville, Williamsport and Salt Creek Twp. The 434 girls registered with the Girl Scout Council are guided by 128 adults.

Pickaway County is divided into three neighborhoods. They include: Ashville, Mrs. John Sabine, chairman; Circleville, Mrs. William Hulse, chairman; and Five Trails, no chairman at present.

THIS YEAR 80 girls enjoyed camping for eight days at Camp Miska, located on the Lyman Penn farm in Salt Creek Twp. In the spring volunteers helped to prepare the camp for summer.

A shelter, erected by dads, was built onto the cabin which previously had been too small to house all girls in case of rain. New trees and a wildflower garden which were added by the girls also helped to beautify the camp.

Girls learn to work together by setting up their campsites and planning programs and activities. When camping out, they plan their daily chore schedule which is called a Kaper Chart.

Each girl is responsible for her individual duty at camp. The duties are rotated for each day.

Service is also an important part of scouting. Among the services rendered in Pickaway County last year were: working as volunteers at Berger Hospital; baby sitting service on election day and also for Ashville PTA meetings; church bulletins for Girl Scout Sunday; conducted flag raising ceremony and planted flowers at Ashville Community Park; prepared displays for County Fair and Pumpkin Show Float Parade; made toys for Children's Home; visited and gave parties for handicapped and retarded children.

Girl Scouts are a fine organization dedicated to teaching physical development, good citizenship, self-reliance and character. Community Fund contributions are well spent on scouting.

Itch Powder, Carpet Tacks Urged as Anti-Red Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air drops of rattlesnakes, itching powder and carpet tacks. One-way mirrors to make American soldiers invisible. A chain link fence to keep Communist reinforcements out of South Viet Nam.

These are some of the hundreds of suggestions sent to the Defense Department by citizens anxious to help win the war.

Such letters — some typewritten, some hand scrawled — arrive at the office of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at the rate of about 40 or 50 a week. Others go directly to the various armed services.

Although some of the ideas are bizarre, many appear carefully thought out. All evidently are sincere.

No matter how odd an idea may seem, its author gets a thank you letter from the Defense Department. Some of the writers obviously realize their ideas are way out. One of them wrote, "I won't mind if you smile."

A random check of the letters indicates people would like to give the military professionals a hand in rooting out and killing elusive Viet Cong guerrillas and protecting Americans from harm.

Suspended Car Drivers Offered Special School

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Starting in January auto drivers with revoked licenses can get their permits back sooner by going to driver improvement school.

Under the plan, drivers will be retrained in defensive driving, taught safe driving habits and compliance with traffic laws under a two-hours-a-week, month-long course. The course will permit drivers to cut as much as two months off the time their licenses have been suspended.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1965. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged as a spy by the British.

On this date In 1862, Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

In 1938, Adolf Hitler met Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain at Bad Godesberg.

In 1939, Russian and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1940, Japanese troops invaded Indochina.

In 1946, President Truman named W. Averell Harriman as Secretary of Commerce to replace Henry A. Wallace, who had resigned in a difference of opinion with Truman over U.S. policy toward the Soviet Union.

Ten years ago — A British airliner crashed in Libya, killing 15 of the 47 on board. Five years ago — President Eisenhower flew to New York, addressed the U.N. General Assembly and conferred privately with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

One year ago — The Defense Department said it believed that one, and perhaps three, unidentified craft were sunk in an encounter with two U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off Viet Nam.

Comic Mischa Auer Plans To Wed Widow

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Mischa Auer, 59, and Mrs. Elsie Souls Lee, a widow, obtained a marriage license Monday. Auer provided comic relief in dozens of movies and plays with his Russian accent.

Canada's 'Peace Corps' Is Growing

TORONTO (AP) — Canada's version of the Peace Corps, started four years ago, has 318 volunteers in 22 countries of Asia, Africa and South America.

Called the Canadian University Service Overseas —CUSO— the privately administered organization hopes eventually to have 1,000 young people working in developing countries.

Until this year, CUSO has relied almost totally on private sources for its finances. The Canadian government gave $500,000 toward the project this year to supplement $250,000 already raised.

The government indicated it will continue to contribute to CUSO despite the fact that it is planning a similar organization of its own, called the Company of Young Canadians.

"I'm sure we will be putting 500 workers a year into the field within a year or two," says CUSO's secretary, William McWhinney. "On a two-year assignment basis, that will give us 1,000 before very long."

Interested candidates are screened first by volunteer committees at 33 Canadian universities and then put through a final examination by a national committee at CUSO headquarters in Ottawa.

Those accepted—208 out of more than 300 this year—undergo extensive training first in Canada and then in the country of destination. The stress is on language, although this year's orientation program includes a seminar in community development.

Recipient countries pay the salaries of volunteers on a local equivalent basis and have the final say in accepting a volunteer for any specific assignment. The failure rate is less than 5 per cent.

CUSO pays the bill for orientation, transportation, insurance, some allowances and central administration. McWhinney says it works out to $2,500 to $3,000 per volunteer, compared with the $18,000-a-member cost of the U.S. Peace Corps.

CUSO volunteers include social workers in Sarawak, mechanical engineers in Kenya, town planners in Tanzania, lab technicians in Jamaica and geologists in Ecuador.

SCO Principals and Coaches Name Officers, List Dates

WASHINGTON C. H. — The South Central Ohio League principals, basketball and football coaches met in Washington C. H. Monday to discuss problems and elect officers for the coming year.

The Principals' Assn. named Edwin Nestor, Washington High School principal, president for 1965. Miami Trace Principal Guy Foster was elected vice president.

Nestor moved up from the vice presidency to replace Wilmington's Robert Moyer.

Richard Snouffer, Circleville, was named secretary-treasurer. Others present at the meeting were Hillsboro's Walter Shannon and Greenfield McClain's Paul Orr.

The principals set Nov. 15 as the date for the annual fall sports banquet at Washington High School; March 7 for the annual basketball banquet at Miami Trace High School; May 10 for the SCO track meet and May 14 for the league golf meet. Sites for the later two sporting events have not yet been selected.

Principals outlined the obligations of a host basketball or football team to game officials, visiting school authorities, visiting teams, bands, scouts and the press.

Several schools — including Waverly, Adena and London — were discussed as possible future members of the SCO but no decisive proposals were offered. The principals will meet again preceding the SCO fall banquet.

Basketball coaches Dale Allen, Greenfield; Al Burger, Wilmington; Harry Hall, Hillsboro; Chuck Hill, Circleville; Virgil Morgan, Washington C. H. moved towards uniform scheduling on all levels, elected to hold freshman and junior high school tournaments and elected Burger president.

Football coaches, Bill Dameron, Greenfield; Don Staggs, Miami Trace; Maurice Pfeiffer, Washington; Dean Waddell, Wilmington; Al Atsalis, Hillsboro and Paul Starr, Circleville agreed to hold film exchanges.

Mid-Am Picks Top Players

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo and Marshall, a couple of schools picked to finish on the bottom in the Mid-American Conference football race, have produced the conference's back and lineman of the week.

Speedy Mickey Jackson, who led Marshall to a season-opening 22-12 decision over Morehead, earned backfield honors with an impressive performance that included three touchdowns.

Defensive end Fred Immerman of Toledo grabbed the laurels as the league's top lineman with a strong showing against Villanova. He was credited with five tackles and nine assists and was a key factor in the Rockets' 9-7 victory.

SYDNEY (AP) — In 1961 Stewart Fraser Husband of Cessnock received a dividend check for 2 pence (2 cents) from the Newcastle Co-operative Building Society.

Former Tiger Named Aide At Ashland

John Valentine Interior Line Coach For Eagle Gridders

John Valentine, well remembered by Circleville High School football fans as a hard charging fullback for the Tigers 15 years ago, has been added to the Ashland College football coaching staff.

Valentine resigned his varsity coaching position at Mansfield Madison High School to accept the position for the 1965 grid season. However, he will continue to teach at Madison.

The former Red and Black star will coach centers and guards on offense and middle guards and linebackers on defense. Fred Martinelli, head coach at Ashland said.

He will also do some scouting for the Ashland Eagles. "We feel fortunate to have him (Valentine) with us," Martinelli stated. "He knows as much about center and guard play as anyone we could have gotten."

A 1951 graduate of Circleville, Valentine was an All-South Central Ohio League fullback for the 1949 and 1950 seasons. He was a member of Tiger teams, along with halfback Harold (Sandy) Hill, that won the SCO title in 1948, 1949 and 1950. The squads were undefeated in league play.

Indian Chief Says AL Boss Errs Badly

NEW YORK (AP) — Gabe Paul, president of the Cleveland Indians, said today that Joe Cronin, president of the American League, had made a "very serious mistake" in firing Pedro Gonzalez without a hearing.

Cronin, on Tuesday, fined Gonzalez, a Cleveland infielder, $500 and suspended him for the remainder of the season "for engaging in a physical attack with a baseball bat" on Detroit pitcher Larry Sherry in Monday night's game in Cleveland.

The incident occurred in the fifth inning after Sherry had thrown two close pitches to Gonzalez. A melee resulted when Gonzalez charged Sherry with the bat in his hand. Gonzalez was ejected after order was restored.

"You have made a very serious mistake, particularly since you disregarded a request for a hearing before rendering a decision," Paul said in a telegram to Cronin's office in Boston. "It is positively unjust to convict a man and impose such a heavy penalty without giving him an opportunity to state his case."

Cronin could not be reached for comment on Paul's views. Gonzalez, who learned of Cronin's action after he had arrived here with the Cleveland team for a series with the Yankees, said he didn't hit Sherry and "I don't remember even swinging at him. If I had wanted to hit him with the bat, I would have."

Eagle Linebacker Wins NFL Praise

NEW YORK (AP) — If Charley Johnson still has a feeling he is being followed, blame it on Dave Lloyd, the persistent middle linebacker of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Lloyd, an important member of the Eagles' blitzing defense that threw the St. Louis quarterback six times for losses of 58 yards has been named the defensive player of the week in the National Football League by The Associated Press. Philadelphia upset St. Louis 34-27.

"Johnson will be looking at those movies again and again trying to figure out what Lloyd was doing to him," said Joe Kuharich, the Eagles' coach.

Viking-Braves Grid Tilt To Highlight Friday Action

Westfall's Mustangs host Jonathan Alder in grid action Friday, while Logan Elm will invade the Teays Valley gridiron for a renewal of a fierce cross-country rivalry.

The Mustangs are still looking for their first victory. So are the Braves of Logan Elm. Teays Valley on the other hand, will be hoping to bounce back from a defeat suffered last week at the hands of Circleville High School.

"This is sort of a grudge game," Teays Valley Coach Marion Waits explains.

"We've played them two times before and Logan Elm won both."

The Vikings came through the Circleville encounter with no injuries. They are expected to be at full strength for the game with the Braves.

During practice sessions this week, the Vikings have been polishing both the offense and defense.

Logan Elm's coach expects to have everybody ready and healthy Friday for the first time since the beginning of the season.

"We hope to do a little playtooning Friday," Jim Colville, the Braves' mentor explains. "We should have good reserve strength at every position."

Both coaches are comparatively quiet about plans for the coming game.

A CAPACITY crowd is expected at the Teays Valley gridiron for the second consecutive week.

Westfall Coach Joe Duncan reports he has been able to find out little about Jonathan Alder.

"I hear they have a good fast halfback and that's about all I know," Duncan reported.

The Jonathan Alder team tied Mechanicsburg last weekend.

Giants Manager Loses Gamble, Tilt to Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Herman Franks gambled and lost Tuesday night.

It may cost him and his San Francisco Giants dearly before the torrid National League pennant race is over.

Franks had to choose between Juan Marichal, his ace, and Bob Shaw for the middle game of the important three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds. The Giants manager elected to go with his second best pitcher and was beaten, 7-4.

This not only enabled the winning Los Angeles Dodgers to narrow the Giants' first-place lead to three games, and Cincinnati's third place Reds close in to within 4½ games, but it gave the second guessers plenty of ammunition.

"If I've got a choice between Marichal and somebody else," said one of the several big league scouts attending the series, "it's got to be Marichal and nobody else. He's the big guy. You must go with him."

Franks' dilemma stemmed from the fact that both Shaw and Marichal had pitched in Sunday's victory in Milwaukee. Shaw had worked the first five innings and Marichal the last two.

No other Giants starter was sufficiently rested except Warren Spahn and Franks was loath to use a lefthander in the Reds' bandbox.

As it is, Marichal is scheduled to oppose Sammy Ellis, the Reds' 20-game winner, in the series' finale here tonight.

Shaw, with two days' rest, held the Reds to one run through the first five innings. That was a home run by Frank Robinson, his 30th of the season.

In the meantime, the Giants had tagged Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati southpaw, for four runs. Shaw ran into trouble in the sixth, yielding singles to Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson, the first two batters to face him.

Here Franks brought in Bill Henry, who allowed both runners to score on a wild pitch and a single by Tony Perez. Righthander Frank Linzy, the Giants' ace reliever, replaced Henry but failed even worse.

2-Year-Old Champions Picked at Delaware

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Mary Donner, owned by the Donner Packing Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., scored a straight heat victory in Tuesday's Breeder's Filly Stake for 2-year-old trotters at the Grand Circuit.

Driven by Frank Ervin, Mary Donner won the first heat in 2:05 and the second in 2:04 3-5.

Aline, owned by the Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N. J., and driven by Wayne (Curly) Smart, won the Breeder's Filly Stake 2-year-old pace in straight heats with times of 2:03 1-5 and 2:03.

Drysdale Arm, Bat Lead Bums In Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Don Drysdale — good-hitting pitcher, or good-pitching hitter? Take your pick. He's helping keep the Los Angeles Dodgers afloat in the National League race with both his arm and his bat.

Drysdale's versatile performance Tuesday night was typical. The tall right-hander recorded his 21st pitching victory of the season with a six-hitter, drove in the clinching run with a single, and helped build an insurance run with another single.

Result: The Dodgers' fifth straight victory, 3-1 over Milwaukee, and a notch upward in pennant scramble.

Second-place Los Angeles now is three games back of the San Francisco Giants, who were trimmed 7-4 by Cincinnati after an error by first baseman Willie McCovey opened the way for four unearned runs.

Drysdale's two hits raised his batting average to .298, highest for the Dodgers, while his third straight victory raised his pitching record to 21-12. The lone Milwaukee run, in the fourth inning after an error by Maury Wills, was unearned — giving the Dodger pitching staff the remarkable distinction of allowing just one earned run in 45 innings covering the club's five-game winning string.

In other NL action — Jim Pitarone's two-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to their fifth straight victory, 6-5 over the New York Mets; Ron Santo rapped two homers and drove in six runs as the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 7-5; and St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0.

In the American League — Baltimore topped front-running Minnesota 6-4 in 10 innings, Detroit downed the Chicago White Sox 6-2, the New York Yankees bombed Cleveland 9-4, Washington shaded Kansas City 4-3, and California whipped Boston 4-0.

The Giants, who had won 17 of their last 18 games, went into the sixth inning at Cincinnati with a 4-1 lead — but came out of it trailing 7-4.

Two Red runs were in, two were out and bases were loaded when Tommy Harper sent a grounder to McCovey. The big first baseman bobbled it, enabling another run to score. Then Pete Rose's single made it 5-4, and Vada Pinson capped the rally with his second hit of the inning — a two-run single.

Frank Robinson hit his 30th homer for the Reds, and Jim Davenport homered with two on for the Giants.

Bill Mazeroski kept the Pirates alive against the Mets with a one-out single in the ninth. Then, after reliever Dave Eilers fanned Willie Stargell, Pagliarone tagged his game-winning homer.

Santo socked his 30th homer, with two aboard, in the first inning, singled across a run in the third, and broke a 5-5 tie in the eighth when he hit his 31st homer, with one on. Ernie Banks accounted for the other Cub run against the Phils with his 26th homer, in the first inning.

Ray Sadecki and Hal Woodeshick combined for a five-hitter in the Cardinals' shutout of the Astros. Sadecki, who doubled in one St. Louis run left with one out in the ninth after walking two men. Woodeshick gave up another walk, but Norman Miller then banged into a game-ending double play.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is receiving special attention from television now, probably because of a pending congressional investigation of the secret organization.

NBC's Huntley-Brinkley news program Tuesday night wound up a three-part, once-over lightly look at the operations of the cross-burning society.

A few hours later "CBS Reports" devoted an hour to an illustrated lecture on the past, present and probable future of the 100-year-old organization that started as a six-member social club and was so strong in the 1920s that it has been credited with a part in the defeat of presidential nominee Alford E. Smith.

Although narrator Charles Kuralt said it is believed that there are no more than 30,000 to 50,000 active Klansmen today, the general tone of the program suggested that its influence — asserted by terror, harassment and assault — is widespread, particularly in smaller Southern communities.

Highlight of the hour were films of a Klan gathering. The costumes, masks and childish-sounding titles made the whole thing seem like a silly game except for rabble-rousing speakers exhorting their audiences to fight for white, gentle, Protestant supremacy. Later, a Negro told how he had been tortured by a group he described as Klan members.

But even with the films, the hour crept along at snail's pace and revealed nothing with which the average newspaper reader was not already familiar.

CBS' "Rawhide" back for a seventh season, keeps those dogies moving across those plains. This year, for a change, Clint Eastwood has been promoted to trail boss — and solo star — and a couple of new drovers have been added to the cast.

Eric Fleming, who either quit or was fired as trail boss after so many seasons, probably will be missed, but nothing much has happened to the basic format of this Western.

AP Guesspert Says Princeton To Top Rutgers

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — It is 96 years ago since Princeton and Rutgers invented what now is known as American football. The rivalry was intense then and will be again Saturday when these ancient foes meet. That's about the only thing that remains the same, everything else has changed including the probable winner.

Rutgers won that first game but this time Princeton is the pick, perhaps by the same margin as the Tigers' 10-7 triumph of a year ago. There's added interest this season because twin brothers are the rival captains. Paul Savidge is a guard and the Princeton leader, Pete Savidge, is a center and the Rutgers captain.

Other picks for the coming weekend: Purdue over Notre Dame: The Big Ten Boilermakers have burst previous Notre Dame bubbles and will do it again, drawing strength from the backing of the hometown crowd. Purdue will contain the speedy Nick Rassas.

Nebraska over Air Force: The Huskers have the better battery. Texas over Texas Tech: But the losers' Donny Anderson will be the star of the game. Michigan over California: The defending Rose Bowl champions still have plenty left.

Arkansas over Tulsa: Jon Brittenum has taken over as the Porker quarterback, the team's only major weak spot. Louisiana State over Rice: The Texans will think they are being entertained by Hurricane Betsy.

Florida over Mississippi State: The Gators romped over Northwestern last Saturday.

Syracuse over Miami of Florida: Floyd Little was held in check last week. It can't be done two weeks in a row.

Kentucky over Mississippi: The home field gives the Wildcats a thin edge.

Georgia over Vanderbilt: The Georgia Bulldogs showed they could bite as well as growl in their amazing triumph over Alabama.

Iowa over Oregon State: Your television entertainment. The Coast Rose Bowl team lost 19 lettermen and it's coach.

Penn State over Michigan State: Two powerhouses. It should be close.

Minnesota over Washington State: The Gophers have found the quarterback they needed. Ohio State over North Carolina: There are too many Ohioans.

Some other picks: Maryland over Ohio University, Pittsburgh over Oklahoma, Illinois over Southern Methodist, Indiana over Northwestern, Southern California over Wisconsin, Houston over Cincinnati.

Wedding Horn-Honking Due To Be Made Legal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Duty-bound policemen in suburban Parma won't have to look the other way when horn-honking wedding parties drive down the streets if the city council can change the ordinances.

Councilmen, who said they did not want to force conscientious patrolmen to arrest newlyweds, sent a proposed ordinance back to committee Tuesday because it failed to specify wedding parties as an exception to rules governing disturbances of the peace.

Drysdale Arm, Bat Lead Bums In Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Don Drysdale — good-hitting pitcher, or good-pitching hitter? Take your pick. He's helping keep the Los Angeles Dodgers afloat in the National League race with both his arm and his bat.

Drysdale's versatile performance Tuesday night was typical. The tall right-hander recorded his 21st pitching victory of the season with a six-hitter, drove in the clinching run with a single, and helped build an insurance run with another single.

Result: The Dodgers' fifth straight victory, 3-1 over Milwaukee, and a notch upward in pennant scramble.

Second-place Los Angeles now is three games back of the San Francisco Giants, who were trimmed 7-4 by Cincinnati after an error by first baseman Willie McCovey opened the way for four unearned runs.

Drysdale's two hits raised his batting average to .298, highest for the Dodgers, while his third straight victory raised his pitching record to 21-12. The lone Milwaukee run, in the fourth inning after an error by Maury Wills, was unearned — giving the Dodger pitching staff the remarkable distinction of allowing just one earned run in 45 innings covering the club's five-game winning string.

In other NL action — Jim Palfari's two-run homer with two out in the last of the ninth lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to their fifth straight victory, 6-5 over the New York Mets; Ron Santo rapped two homers and drove in six runs as the Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 7-5; and St. Louis blanked Houston 3-0.

In the American League — Baltimore topped front-running Minnesota 6-4 in 10 innings. Detroit downed the Chicago White Sox 6-2, the New York Yankees bombed Cleveland 9-4, Washington shaded Kansas City 4-3, and California whipped Boston 4-0.

The Giants, who had won 17 of their last 18 games, went into the sixth inning at Cincinnati with a 4-1 lead — but came out of it trailing 7-4.

Two Red runs were in, two were out and bases were loaded when Tommy Harper sent a grounder to McCovey. The big first baseman bobbled it, enabling another run to score. Then Pete Rose's single made it 5-4, and Vada Pinson capped the rally with his second hit of the inning — a two-run single.

Frank Robinson hit his 30th homer for the Reds, and Jim Davenport homered with two out for the Giants.

Bill Mazeroski kept the Pirates alive against the Mets with a one-out single in the ninth. Then, after reliever Dave Eilers fanned Willie Stargell, Palfari tagged his game-winning homer.

Santo socked his 30th homer, with two aboard, in the first inning, singled across a run in the third, and broke a 5-5 tie in the eighth when he hit his 31st homer, with one on. Ernie Banks accounted for the other Cub run against the Phils with his 26th homer, in the first inning.

Ray Sadecki and Hal Woodeshick combined for a five-hitter in the Cardinals' shutout of the Astros. Sadecki, who doubled in one St. Louis run left with one out in the ninth after walking two men. Woodeshick gave up another walk, but Norman Miller then banged into a game-ending double play.

Inspection at BPO Elks Viewed by Large Group

About 200 members of Circleville BPO Elks Lodge were on hand last night for annual Grand Lodge inspection.

Inspecting officer was John Shafer of Columbus, deputy for the South Central Ohio District to Grand Exalted Ruler R. Leonard Bush.

Starting with a dinner served by Jimmy Carpenter and his crew, the evening's agenda was capped by an initiation conducted by Exalted Ruler Marshall Winner and his corps of officers.

Winner said the next initiation would be on Oct. 19, the Tuesday night of Pumpkin Show Week.

IN HIS inspection report to the lodge, Shafer said he found records and facilities of the Circleville fraternal order to be in tip-top condition. He also commended the corps of officers on its rendition of the ritual.

Outlining the Grand Lodge program for the new lodge year, Shafer said Bush was operating under the slogan of "be a player, not a spectator."

The Circleville Elks were told that the Grand Lodge "doesn't take kindly to drones; each lodge is expected to maintain its high standing in the community."

Shafer said Circleville was expected to show a five per cent net increase in member-

Auto Industry Continuing To Enjoy Boom

NEW YORK (AP) — With 1966 models starting to come off the assembly lines in quantity, the automobile industry continued to boom during the week.

It has been a pacesetter for the surging economy all this year.

Although the new models haven't reached the showrooms as yet, sales of new cars were higher than expected in the first 10 days of September.

As a result, motor issues led a sharp stock market advance.

Car sales in the first one-third of September totaled 152,133, compared with 134,007 in the like period a year earlier. This showed that dealers were making good progress in cleaning up their big inventories of 1965 models.

The big three automakers, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, all rang up sales gains over a year earlier. American Motors reported decline.

Production during the week totaled an estimated 116,000 compared with 53,915 the previous week and 158,071 a year ago.

American Motors settled a 20-day strike by the United Auto Workers that had choked off all production.

Chrysler President Lynn A. Townsend announced that between 1964 and 1967 Chrysler is investing $1.7 billion on expansion, against $430 million from 1953 through 1956.

"Everything we are doing to increase our manufacturing capacity and our selling and servicing facilities is based on our expectation of a steadily growing market for cars and trucks in the years ahead," he said.

New evidence of continuing prosperity emerged in several sectors of the economy.

Industrial production rose to another record in August, manufacturers expected their quarter-to-quarter gains in sales and inventories to remain steady in the current quarter and the number of nonfarm workers reached a new peak in mid-August.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that the index of industrial production edged up 0.2 per cent to 144.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average. This was the 10th consecutive month in which the index has set a record.

A survey by the Department of Commerce projected a 2 per cent rise for sales in the current quarter to a record $122.5 billion. The projected gain for the final quarter of this year was a narrower 1.5 per cent. The sampling showed that manufacturers anticipated an $800 million expansion of their inventory stocks in this quarter, the same as the previous quarter, but an accumulation of only $500 million in the final quarter.

The lodge was told it was expected to continue its endeavors in the fields of community service, youth work, hospitalized veterans and Americanism.

Reminding local members of the Elks' slogan "so long as there is a hospitalized veteran, he will never be forgotten," Shafer challenged Circleville Elks to "go visit the Chillicothe VA Hospital." He declared that "you cannot come back without wanting to do something for those men down there."

Circleville lodge also was told it was expected to double its investment in the Elks National Foundation, a multi-million-dollar trust from which many of the monies come for the lodge's varied philanthropic activities.

Scholarship Program Has 2 TV Pupils

Benis Lutz, principal of Teays Valley High School, announced today that two seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1965-66 merit scholarship competition.

The students cited for the achievement are Glenn Flieri and James Wells. They are among the highest scoring students in the state on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test administered last March in over 17,600 schools.

About 97 per cent of past semifinalists have become finalists. Each finalist receives a certificate of merit in recognition of outstanding performance in the program. Finalists are eligible for the scholarships sponsored by NMSC and over 280 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

Names of the merit scholars chosen from among the finalists will be announced April 27, 1966.

High school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extra curricular activities, and school citizenship of the students are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting merit scholars. Winners of sponsored awards also meet sponsor criteria.

Each merit scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate college years. The winner's stipend is tailored to his need, up to a maximum of $6,000 for the four years in most cases. For the student already financially able to attend the college of his choice, the award is $400 for the four years. Winners choose their own colleges and courses of study.

In many cases, the colleges attended by merit scholars also receive supplementary grants accompanying the scholarships.

Mine Strike Starts Fading

Another 1,200 Diggers on Job

POWHATAN POINT, Ohio (AP) — A wildcat strike against mining companies in a three-state area appeared to be losing support today as another 1,200 coal miners returned to their jobs.

Nearly 9,000 United Mine Workers still were idle, but there was no indication that a feared expansion of the walk-out was developing.

Workers at the Christopher Coal Co.'s Arkwright, Pursglove and Osage mines in northern West Virginia returned to work at midnight when no pickets appeared.

On Tuesday, about 400 miners at the company's Humphries No. 7 Mine near Morgantown, W. Va., went back to work.

Also returning Tuesday were 800 men to the Consolidation Coal Co.'s Loveridge Mine and R & P No. 1 Mine, both in Marion County, W. Va.

Another 1,200 men in Local 6321 at the U.S. Steel Corp.'s Robena Mine complex in Mazon, Pa., voted Tuesday to end their walkout at midnight if there were no pickets.

However, pickets were on duty and the miners refused to cross the lines.

The 16-day-old strike was triggered by the firing of six workers at the Hanna Coal Co.'s Ireland Mine in Moundsville, W. Va. The walkout spread quickly to dozens of other mines in the northern panhandle of West Virginia, Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

The miners were fired for allegedly taking part in another unauthorized strike a week earlier.

Officials of United Mine Workers Union District 6, in which most of the walkouts have occurred, have termed the strike unauthorized and repeatedly have urged miners to return to their jobs.

Pesticide Test Set Among Cancer Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says a study is to be made of more than 350,000 cancer deaths in New York State over the past 25 years to seek clues as to whether pesticides may have been involved.

There also will be a study of 120,000 living persons diagnosed as having cancer during the past five years. Health Service, Inc., of Albany, N. Y., will do the investigative work at a cost of $103,744.

Initial Action On Building Code Taken by Solons

Circleville Council last night took another look at a long debated proposal calling for a building code for the city.

Preliminary steps leading to legislative action on the proposal were initiated with a reading of certain amendments to a code that could be applied here. The building measure proposed for Circleville has been drafted from the Columbus Building Code, with appropriate modifications inserted.

The initial Council action was prompted by attorney Richard Penn, representing the Pickaway County Contractors Assn. that has been promoting a code acceptance here for more than a year. Solon Keith Wagner moved for a reading of the amendments and Joe Bell voiced a second.

Although the reference to the Columbus Code were read, the general feeling is that considerable debate and compromise is in store before Council takes final legislative action. Most of the solons have cited a need for such a measure, but the approach in establishing it has not been determined.

SOME of the aspects apparently bothering Council are initial financing, enforcement and the naming of a building inspector and board of building trades examiners.

Penn urged that the Columbus references at least be introduced. He suggested that certain provisions could be amended in the future if not acceptable.

Council has estimated that it would take about $10,000 initially to establish a department to administer provisions of the code, an amount they say is not immediately available as an appropriation. Backers of the measure contend the operation is self-sustaining financially once it becomes functional.

The actual reading of the Columbus references by clerk Robert Shadley dwelled on the changes that would be incorporated into the Circleville Building Code. Included were provisions for appointing a building inspector and the establishment of a board of trade examiners.

The board of examiners would include five city residents engaged in the fields of: 1. plumbing; 2. heating, ventilating or air conditioning; 3. electrical; 4. refrigeration; 5. general construction.

The sixth member of the board would be the building inspector. He would serve as secretary for the panel.
